Foreword -

The staff presents the 1929 "Marshallite" with the hope that each Senior will find upon its pages, woven through the record of the events of the past year, some glimpse of the ideals and traditions of our school. May it help to keep alive within us the spirit of all true Marshallites. May it revive fond memories which will cause us to live over in recollection our happy days at John Marshall.

We have chosen "Progress" as our theme because we wish to pay tribute to that spirit which manifested itself at the very beginning of our history, which has been ever present through the years and is now steadily leading us on to higher things.

William F. Fox

First Principal

WHEN we look at the handsome and well equipped John Marshall High School with its enrollment of more than three thousand pupils, its large faculty, and its full curriculum, we are filled with pride in our school; but do we realize that this great work was accomplished by a procession of school officials and teachers who began their labors in 1869? In that year the public school system of Richmond was founded. A year later an Advanced Grammar Grade was established, which was really the high school in embryo.

In 1871, confronted by an urgent need for teachers, the Board requested funds for a normal and high school. Accordingly, the Richmond High School was established in rented rooms on Broad Street, between Ninth and Tenth Streets. The principal, William F. Fox, and two teachers composed the faculty, and there were forty-nine pupils. The course of study, which covered three years, was the same for all pupils.

First High School Building

805 E. Marshall St.

THE first high school building, located at 805 East Marshall Street, was opened on October 1, 1873. It was a three-story building with eight class rooms, the third floor being occupied by an assembly hall. The building cost $40,000 and had a capacity of 274 pupils. At this time the faculty consisted of the principal and three teachers, and the enrollment was seventy-six.

The first class was regularly graduated from the school in June, 1875. It consisted of six boys and eight girls. In that year Senior pupils were employed as substitute teachers in the city schools.

In 1881, the enrollment of the high school having outgrown the capacity of the building, it was found necessary to enlarge the structure by the addition of eight rooms and a basement. The popularity of the school increased steadily, and several times after this rooms were added to take care of the growing enrollment.

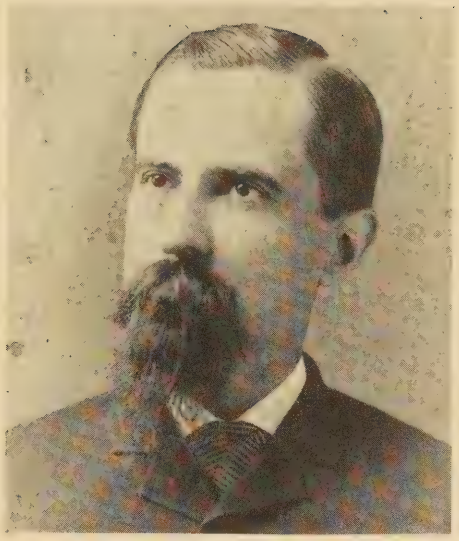
William A. Bowles

Second Principal

IN 1882, ten years after the establishment of the school, we find a faculty of twelve and an enrollment of three hundred and ninety-three. But the growth in numbers was by no means the only growth of the high school. We find that the scholastic rating of the school became of prime importance to those in authority, and efforts to improve it were constantly being made. A desire for a higher standard was manifested in 1884 by the substitution of fifty per cent instead of forty-five per cent as the minimum for promotion, and in 1888 this was raised to sixty per cent.

In 1887 a Post Graduate year was added to the course of study. This marks the inception of the City Normal School.

In 1889 Mr. Fox, the man who had guided the school through the critical period of its infancy, became superintendent, and William A. Bowles succeeded to the principalship.



Julian P. Thomas

Third Principal

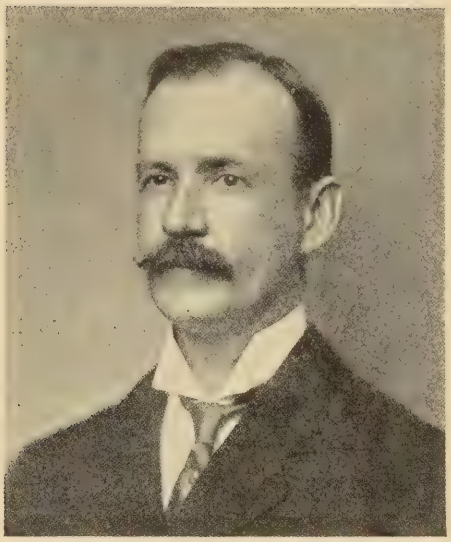
A YEAR after becoming principal, Mr. Bowles resigned to accept a position in a larger institution, and Julian P. Thomas was elected principal.

In the same year we find a further expansion of the curriculum. The school showed its progressiveness by putting into practice the new theories of education which urged that a pupil should not be forced into an arbitrary system but that the course of study should be adapted to the needs and abilities of the child. Phonography and typewriting were introduced, and shortly afterward a two-year business course was established. The superintendent recommended that, in addition to the college preparatory, business, and post graduate courses, a manual arts course for boys and girls be adopted. A full course at that time did not seem feasible, but a partial compliance with the recommendation was made by the establishment, in 1893, of a course in cooking. Owing to a lack of funds this course was later discontinued.

Outside Quarters of the School

The John Marshall House and The Jefferson Club

IN 1894 the building was again overcrowded and the practice of renting outside rooms was begun. This continued until June, 1909, when the school occupied every available corner in three buildings: the high school building, the John Marshall House, and the old Jefferson Club. Before 1903, however, it became evident to the School Board that the building at 805 East Marshall was hopelessly beyond improvement and totally unfit for a twentieth century school. They used every effort to secure funds for the erection of a new school. In 1904 they succeeded in obtaining half of the lot on which the building now stands. Plans for the new school were submitted, but before any work was begun, the citizens, headed by the School Board, the Richmond Education Association, and the daily press, so vigorously pressed the question of securing the whole block, bounded by Clay, Marshall, Eighth, and Ninth Streets, that in 1905 their efforts were crowned with success.



James C. Harwood

Fourth Principal

IN THE fall of 1903 further effort to improve the scholastic standing was made. Examinations were abolished for all except the graduating classes. The standard adopted for these classes was an average of eighty per cent with a minimum of seventy per cent on a subject. In the spring of 1906 a committee appointed by the board made a study of the standards of the high schools throughout the State and reported the Richmond High School as among those requiring the highest standard.

In 1905, upon the resignation of Mr. Thomas, James C. Harwood became principal. At this time there were but two courses in the school: the regular course of three years and the two-year business course. All who selected the regular course were required to take every subject in the course. In 1907, upon Mr. Harwood's recommendation, the course was extended to four years, allowing greater latitude in the selection of subjects.

John Marshall High School

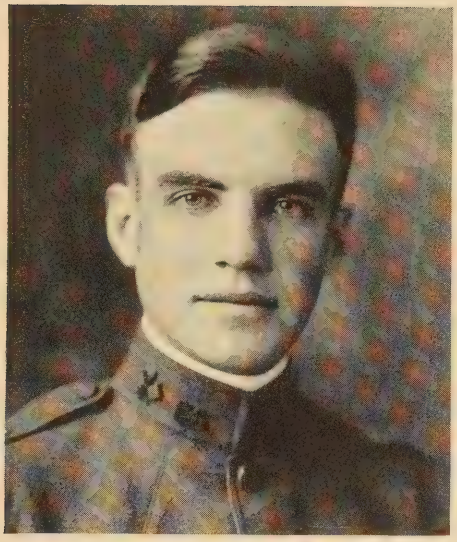
Erected 1909

GROUND was broken for the new building in the spring of 1908. The following fall the cornerstone was laid. In September, 1909, although the building was not quite complete, the school entered its third home. In November an entire day was devoted to the dedication of the building. Before the completion of the building the name of the school was changed to John Marshall High School.

In February, 1911, the plan of promoting pupils by subjects was put into effect. A pupil making seventy-five per cent on a subject was advanced in that subject. The pupils became more interested in their work, and the good results of the plan were immediately evident.

The following summer the vacation school was established so that pupils who so desired might have an opportunity to continue their work in the summer.

In the fall of 1911 the Teachers' Training Department was moved from the high school to the William F. Fox School, and became the City Normal School.



Captain Edwin P. Conquest

First Commandant of the

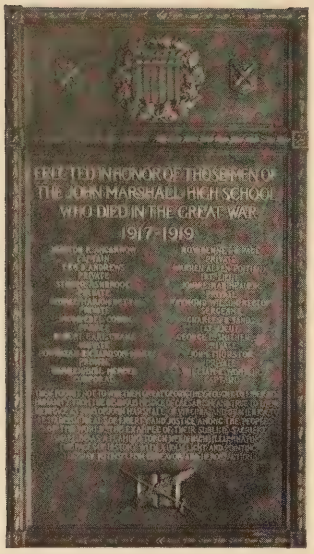
John Marshall Cadet Corps

IN THE fall of 1912 several important steps were taken. The Library was established and a trained Librarian appointed. The system of supplying free text books was introduced, and Spanish was added to the program of studies.

In 1915 the John Marshall Cadet Corps was formed, with Captain Edwin P. Conquest as commandant. Of the 700 male pupils in the school, 240 enlisted. By the end of the session Captain Conquest had organized a most creditable battalion of four companies. The following are the commandants who succeeded Captain Conquest:

Captain B. D. Ayres	1916-17
Captain Marshall G. Munce	1917-18
Captain John L. Guest	1918-19
Captain Raymond P. James	1919-20 and 1920-21
Captain J. W. Knapp, Jr.	1921-22 and 1922-23
Captain E. C. Franklin	1923-24 and 1924-25
Captain James C. Anthony	1925-

The growth and improvement of the Cadet Corps has been steady. In 1926 it came under the inspection of the Government, and has been rated first in its class (55C schools) by Federal Inspection in 1927, 1928, and 1929.



Memorial Tablet

Dedicated 1920

IN 1918, during the Great War, twenty-two male teachers were furloughed for military duty, and five hundred alumni of John Marshall were in the service.

In the fall of 1918 the great influenza epidemic reached its height. The hospitals of Richmond were overcrowded, and additional quarters had to be secured. The high school building seemed the most suitable building available, and accordingly the school was closed for this purpose on October 4. Within three days the desks had been removed, beds placed in the rooms, and patients admitted. The school accommodated about a thousand patients. It was used for a month, the building being reopened for school purposes on November 7.

In 1920 a bronze tablet in memory of the sixteen alumni who fell in the Great War was dedicated. The tablet was a gift from the Patriotic Society of the school, and was placed in the lobby of the building. The inscription was written by Miss Ray Van Vort, head of the Department of English.

George Wythe Junior High School

IN 1921 the school had again outgrown its quarters, and a two-session day was necessary. Pupils of the third and fourth years attended from 8:20 A. M. until noon, and those of the first and second years from 12:30 to 4:10.

In 1922 the George Wythe Junior High School, situated just across the street from the John Marshall High School, was opened. Although originally intended as a junior high school, it was immediately made part of John Marshall because of the crowded condition of the latter school.

In September, 1928, the enrollment of the school had increased to such an extent that a double session was necessary in George Wythe building.

As the history of John Marshall High School is, after all, the history of secondary education in Richmond, it is with great pleasure that we learn that the construction of a splendid new high school in the West End is now in progress. The new school will be occupied in September, 1930.

The Kingdom of the Future

"What do you see, O, Seer so wise,
As in yon crystal you gaze with moody eyes?
Draw back the curtain; let us see TOMORROW
With its joy, its care, its love and sorrow."

The curtain is drawn, and a vision it seems
Of a road stretching far to our castle of dreams,
But the picture is dim and we cannot behold
This wonderful place we have for our goal.

"Is the way rough or easy? Shall dangers befall?
How long will it be ere we reach that bright wall?"
The Seer shakes his head and says with a sigh,
"That, O Youth, you find when you try."

Then come, comrade mine, let us away!
For the road begins with the milestone, TODAY.
With stout heart and bold we'll meet what befalls,
And we'll feast ere long in yon castle's halls.

—Jesse Mahoney.

WILLIAM LUTHER ACREE

BILL

Orchestra; Athletic Association; Cadet Band; Hi-Y Club; Marshall Debating Society.

Bill probably has the distinction of having the greatest variety of interests of any member of the Class of '29, for it is a long way from jazz orchestras to architecture and the science laboratory, his secret ambitions.

WILLIE RAYMOND ADAMS

Athletic Association.

Here's to Willie, the great mathematician. May he solve all the problems of life as well as he has solved his problems in John Marshall. We are sure he will be successful.

HANNAH ADELANSKI

Athletic Association; Van Vort Debating Society; Dramatic Club.

Hocus, Pocus, Dominocus
Abrigadabra—Presto!
On Hannah's fortune our attention we'll focus.
Great things are coming—sure but slow.
A doctor in her class the best,
Known throughout the land;
Fame, glory above all the rest,
A leader of her band.

THOMAS JACKSON ALBRIGHT

TOMMY

The Senate; "Record" Staff; Athletic Association.

Of course, everyone will call him Tom,
As they have always done.
Frank, quickwitted, cheerful, true;
Ever ready for fun.
We'll be proud of him, I know,
When he wins his place in the sun.

DOROTHY MAE ALLEN

DOT

Athletic Association; Hockey Team; Basketball Team; Forum Club; Girl Reserves; Chorus.

A sense of humor is wholesome;
You may laugh when there's fun to be found;
And I venture to say to you, Dorothy,
You'll have friends the whole world round.

ROBERT BRAXTON ALLPORT, JR.

BOB

Sergeant Cadet Corps; Athletic Association.

Bob's genial smile is bound to win you over, and, should he keep on smiling, we do not doubt that he will win the highest place in the esteem of his friends and admirers.

JOSEPHINE MAE APPLE

PHENEY

If to have a friend is to be one, Josephine will have many. In the future we shall see her in the business world, and a good business woman she'll make, too.

ANNE ELIZABETH ARVIN

Athletic Association.

Readin', 'ritin', 'n 'rithmetic—
She's goin' to teach 'em all,
But, old-maid school teacher—did you say?
Oh, No!—Not at all.

EVELYN JEAN ASKIN

Oh, Evelyn, never think that we'll forget
Your pretty curls and face.
We hope that you'll succeed in later life
And find your deserved place.

ELIZABETH VIRGINIA ATKINSON

Van Vort Debating Society.

First in her studies, first in ability, first in the hearts of her friends. Virginia is one of those rare persons who find pleasure in studies, in nature, and music. Whatever her vocation is, it will be a success.

VIRGINIA CATHERINE ATTKISSON

JIN

Athletic Association.

A woman planned in finest mold,
Intellect, and heart of gold,
Broad in vision, liberal, too.
Lawyer? Yes, if she will;
Homemaker, far better still.

MARY LOUISE AUSTIN

MARY LOU

Van Vort Debating Society; Athletic Association.

Mary Lou is jolly and makes everybody around her have a good time. She'll be a popular "Entertainer" at a girls' camp or a successful hostess at a fashionable summer resort.

LUCILE MICHAUX BACON

CILE

Athletic Association.

A congenial companion, she is, with an interesting personality and keen sense of humor, mingled with tender sympathies. We are sure these qualities will make her life a helpful and happy one.

GLADYS MAE BAILEY

DICK

Athletic Association; Harwood Literary Society.

Gladys gladly greets coming years.
She feels no ruth for loss of youth;
Her skill and sense will recompense
And bring reward that cheers.

GORDON PHILLIPS BAKER

EYEBALL

Basketball '27, '28, '29, Captain 29; Football; Track; Forum Club; Bachelors' Club; Monogram Club.

It's not whether you won or lost that counts, but how you played the game. Gordon will play the game of life well.

MAURY BAKER

RUNT

Cadet Corps; Spanish Society; French Society; Athletic Association.

If this tall, dark boy is as successful in later life as he is in winning friends, a bright future is assured him. His friendly smile draws all to him, and his engaging personality turns chance acquaintances into everlasting pals.

MARY BELLE BALDWIN

Athletic Association; Girl Reserves.

Her wit, her grace,
Her laughter gay,
Her winning smile so bright
Will bring great joy and fame some day
To this fair Marshallite.

SOLOMON JULIUS BANKS

SOLLY

Athletic Association; Corporal Cadet Corps; Basketball.

Schooldays over, college instead,
College over, the world ahead,
A builder of bridges, Solly will be;
He may build a bridge from sea to sea.
Whatever he does will be O. K.
Success to him, the world will say.

IDA EMILY BARHAM

Chatterbox Club; Athletic Association; Girl Reserves.

In a magic mirror, I see for you
A husband, and right soon at that.

ANNE MAY BARLOW

ANNIE

French Society.

Neither too careless nor too sad,
Neither too studious nor too glad;
A friend that is true and will make life more bright,
And whatever she does will be done just right.

VIVIAN LOUISE BARNETT
VIV

Athletic Association; Class of Drama; Senior French Society.

She leads her class,
This studious lass;
She makes the Honor Roll.
In years to come
We'll find her 'mong
The great and learned souls.

MARY DAUGHERTY BATES

Girl Reserves; Archery Club; Hockey Team; Athletic Association.

Mary is good in all sports, especially in hockey. She is also a good organizer and leader. We look forward to the day when she'll be the hockey coach at John Marshall.

PHYLISS BAUR
SHORTY

It Club; Athletic Association.

Always a smile upon her face
As in her work she sets the pace;
I see for her success in any line.
I know she's a puzzle, but nevetheless she's fine.

WILLIE ELIZABETH BEADLES
NIDDIE

Girl Reserves; Forum Club.

Niddie wants to be a nurse,
A good one, too, and "spiffy."
So starched and white, she'll look just right
And get you well in a jiffy.

GEORGIE BELLE BENNETT

"Record" Staff; "Marshallite" Staff; Reporter of Writers' Club; Reporter of Van Vort Debating Society; Associate Editor "The Monocle"; Athletic Association; Harwood Literary Society.

Sophisticated—yet, she's not
A bit pretensive, and we like her a lot.
She's stylish in dress—and I confess
There's a genius hiding in her called Success.

SYLVIA FLORENCE BERNSTEIN

Girl Reserves; Athletic Association; Archery Club.

"Who's Sylvia?" She's the lass
Who with "Pluck on the Long Trail"
Will take her way "Northward Ho!"
To Library School in "Old Boston Town"
To learn the ways of "Little Men"
And "Little Women," too.

MARGARET ELIZABETH BETHEL

MARG

Athletic Association; Forum Club.

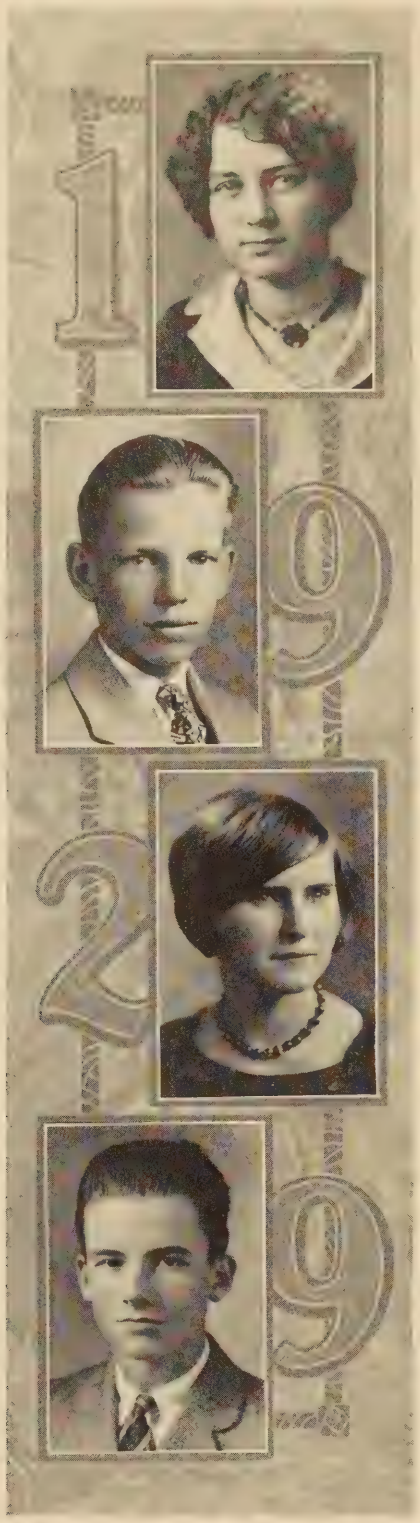
Her cheery way
From day to day
Will prove the needed light
To bring success
And happiness
In making our world bright.

WILLIAM JOHNSON BINFORD

BILLY

Athletic Association; Basketball Squad.

A smile, a cheery whistle, and a wholesome, refreshing personality—that's Billy. He has half won his battle with the future already.



FRANCES HARRINGTON BLAKE

SUG

Forum Club; Athletic Association.

One of these days a ship will be sailing across the deep blue waters carrying Frances as a missionary to foreign fields.

NORRIS BLAKE

Cadet Corps; Harwood Literary Society; Athletic Association.

Whatever course he may follow,
Though he may be a bright little fellow,
Surely a poet he'll not be;
That, from this, you can see.

KATHRYN HAYWOOD BLANKENSHIP

KATTY

Orchestra; Van Vort Debating Society; Senior French Society.

Kathryn is always ready to lend a helping hand. She's a true pal and an ambitious student, whose sunny smile and untiring energy foretell a brilliant future.

BENJAMIN WATKINS L. BLANTON

BEN

Athletic Association.

His abundance of common sense
And his clearness of thought
Will win him a high place
In a career of any sort.

ARAX BOGHOSIAN

Senior Spanish Society; French Society; Athletic Association.

She is a most quiet girl, who goes about her business in a quiet way. We all admire her dignity and comradeship, and predict that she will accomplish much in life.

FLORENCE EVELYN BOOTH

BOOTSIE

Forum Club; Dramatic Club.

Time would fail me, so my tongue would too,
To tell half she has done, or half she shall do.

ROSA LEE BORNSTEIN

ROE

Listen to her mighty voice.
Listen to her mighty song;
Some day in the future
The voice of this student
Will bring delight to a throng.

JULIA LEE BOSTON

Athletic Association; Girl Reserves.

Here's predicting that when Julia departs
And goes upon her way,
She'll have a life of great success
Forever and a day.

NELLIE GLENN BOWEN

Van Vort Debating Society; Athletic Association; Senior Spanish Society.

Nellie, chic, demure, with an almost uncanny faculty for making friends, possesses a vast amount of initiative which will bring success in whatever field she enters.

LOUISE GARNETT BOWERS

LELE

Athletic Association; Senior French Society; Vice-President Pep Club; Program Chairman Girl Reserves; Secretary Class of '29.

A giggle! A girl disappearing in the distance—of course it's Lele, that cute little Pep who's O, so popular! We don't know what her future will be, but of course it will be exciting.

GEORGIA AILEEN BOWLES

Athletic Association.

Here's a girl, happy, smiling, and gay.
That's the way you'll find her every day.
Aileen, may your future be crowned with success,
And of luck we wish you always the best.

AVIS VIRGINIA BOWRY

A

Oh! Margy Club.

Shall we ever forget the little brunette whose smile can be seen before all others? She says she is going to teach, but we have our suspicions!

VIRGINIA CLARE BOYD

SPARKY

We often think of "Sparky,"
So good in shorthand is she;
And we know that in the future
A brilliant stenog. she'll be.

ANNE FRANKLYN BRADLEY

President Bootsie Club; Dramatic Club; Athletic Association.

Her ready laugh, her pretty face,
Her dancing eyes, her winsome grace
Shall win for her in this life's race
Wealth, position, love, or fame;
Or anything else at which she chooses to aim.

JAMES LEE BRADLEY

NAPPY, HENPECKED

The Senate; Marshall Debating Society; "Record" Staff; Writers' Club.

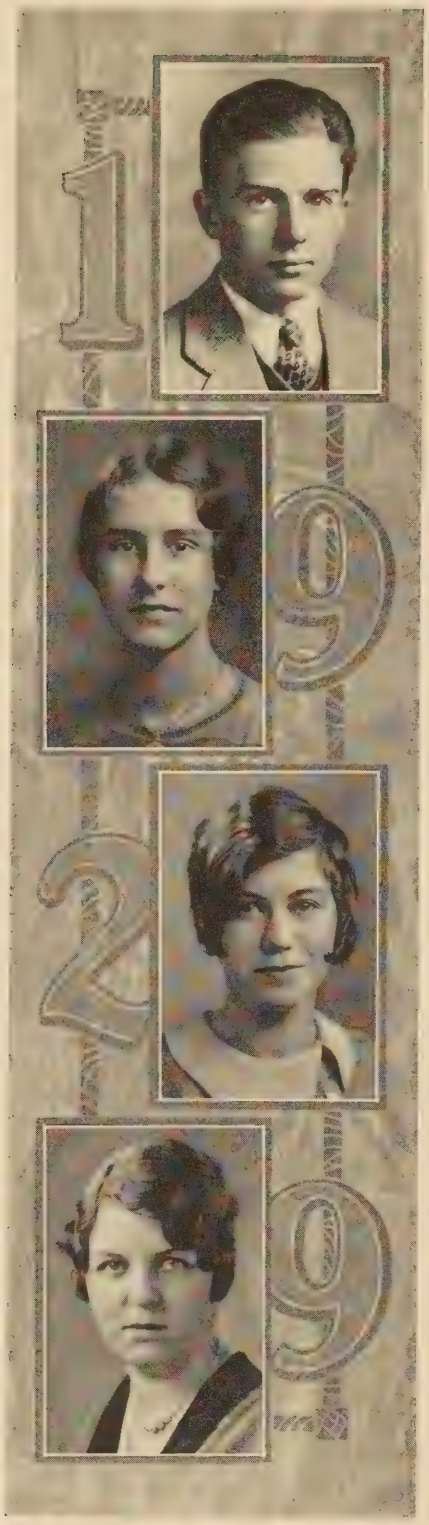
Time used to be when Lee seemed to me
Bound for the President's chair,
And should domestic strife not ruin his life,
I still hope to see him there.

VIRGINIA LEE BRADSHAW

GINNIE

Athletic Association.

May Dame Fortune smile upon you in your desired position as a secretary.



FRANCIS MARSHALL BRAGG

Athletic Association.

His cheerful manner and pleasing personality have won for him a prominent place in the hearts of his fellow students. We all know that whatever he attempts in future years will be a success.

MARIETTA CORNELL BRANCH

Van Vort Debating Society.

And here is charming Marietta,
Whose very name's an operetta;
Her Grecian face,
The home of grace;
Her dancing eyes,
Twice Paradise!

O, merry Marietta,
We fear that many a mad vendetta
Will soon ensue
Deciding who May marry merry Marietta.

MARY VIVIAN BRIDGERS

BILLY

Athletic Association; "Record" Staff.

*V*ersatile,
*I*nvaluable gatherer of news for "The Record,"
*V*ery high in studies,
*I*ndefatigable maiden!
*A*dequate always—yes; but very, very quiet,
*N*ever in a hurry, never late. She will be whatever she chooses.

ETHEL ELIZABETH BRITTAIN

Athletic Association; Girl Reserves.

Well dressed? Very good dancer? Exceptionally. But what catches and holds you is her conversation. Entertaining enough to listen to forever, sympathetic enough to tell everything to. Wherever she goes, people will say, "What a treat, talking to Elizabeth!"

ELIZABETH CLYCE BRITTON

BETSY

Athletic Association; Girl Reserves; Senior French Society; Treasurer Duckie Club.

Here's to Betsy—charming, clever,
And she's just the best sport ever;
Ready and willing to join the fun,
Oh! She's just the "Duckiest" one.
We predict for her a college career
And wish her success throughout each year.

WILLIAM WIRT BROCK

BILL

Dramatic Club; Athletic Association; Cadet Corps; Forum Club.

A steady business man he'll be,
In his heart a dreamy song,
And once on business out at sea
He'll find what he dreamed of so long.

HENRY LEWIS BROTHERS

HEAD

Football, '27, '28; Hi-Y Club; Idma Club; Harwood Literary Society; Monogram Club; Athletic Association.

Judging by the years "Ole Head" has spent in high school, we should say he will be either a syncopater or a professional football player, but we know, by the way he plays football, that he will amount to something one of these days.

EDWARD ALLEN BROWN

Here flies a youth, aloft the stormy skies,
A youth to Fortune and to Fame well known;
His model airships have won him many a prize,
And aviation marks him for its own.

GEORGE HARRISON BROWN

Orchestra; Athletic Association.

George's ambition is to be a great musician,
And one day, we'll not be surprised
To find him famous before our eyes.
Famous! The future bright;
Yes, sir! That's George all right.

HARVEY COLEMAN BROWN, Jr.

Athletic Association; Junior French Society; Sergeant Cadet Corps; "Monocle" Staff; Honor Court.

If next year you should see a seven-foot college man in a raccoon coat come sauntering by, you'll know it's Harvey by the way all the girls crane their necks in his direction.

LINDA MAE BROWN
LINDY

Athletic Association; Senior Spanish Society.

A smile, a skip, a brilliant brain,
Always so happy and gay;
And cheerful, too, through sun and rain,
That's our Linda Mae.
With her willingness to work
And reluctance to shirk,
She'll be successful some day.

VIRGIE BEATRICE BROWN
BROWNIE

Basketball '26; Senior Spanish Society; Dramatic Club.

Virgie's object is always to attain those standards which are higher and better. Her attitude towards life and those with whom she comes in contact is one of sympathy and understanding. Surely success in any undertaking must follow her.

BERTHA ELIZABETH BROWNING
LIZ

J M's '27; Duckies '28; Athletic Association; Sponsor Company D.

She's good to look at,
Better to know,
A wonderful pal;
We all think so.
In the future we'll greet
Our Metropolitan queen,
And we'll say of our Liz
That's she's cute and she's keen.

WILLIAM DANIEL BROWNING, Jr.
SLIPPERY

Captain Cadet Corps '28; Judge Advocate Honor Court '28; Idma Club; Athletic Association.

In the future, when we hear
Music by an orchestra grand,
We'll think the leader's Paul Whiteman,
But maybe it'll be Dan.

EDWIN CLINTON BRYCE

"Record" Staff '28; "Marshallite" Staff '29.

Edwin is a student much envied because of his ability and accomplishments shown while at John Marshall. We feel sure that success is awaiting him as he enters the world of science.

HYMEN LOUIS BUFFENSTEIN
BUFF

His columns of figures are always right,
And everything business is his delight.
The work of prophecy is easy here, since
The stars give promise of a business prince.

BETTY GRANT BUHRMAN

BETTS

Athletic Association.

Laughing, smiling, always gay—
That's our Betts in every way.
Her future could not but be bright;
She'll smile and smile and make it right.

VIRGINIA DEAN BULLARD

Chorus.

Ten years from now what will she be—
An author, organist, or a Mother Machree?
Whatever she does, 'twill be well done,
And you bet she'll rank
A-Number One.

CARY WILSON BURKHOLDER

KID

When tomorrow's "Who's Who" is published,
And heroes the people acclaim,
We'll find that our friend Cary
Will receive his share of fame.

CLAUDINE PRICE BURKHOLDER

DEENY

Athletic Association; Senior Spanish Society.

Now whom do we see
Still smiling with glee?
It's that same little girl,
Deeny, who's made a name in the world.

GERTRUDE MAIE BURTON

BOOTS

Forum Club.

'Tis pleasant to live so grandly
That things which you have done
Long after you're gone are remembered
And recounted under the sun.

HARVEY GORDON BURTON

BURTY

Saint Club; Harwood Literary Society; Senior Spanish Society; Cadet Corps; Athletic Association.

This happy and carefree blond is liked by all. He has made many friends of both sexes and all classes, especially the Class of '29. We are assured of the fact that Gordon will gain much fame in the future.

PAUL REGINALD BURTON

REG

Forum Club; Junior Spanish Society; Athletic Association.

When one first meets Reginald, he would naturally forecast a life full of promise and success. This was my first impression. Now, after many years of close friendship, his future seems even more brilliant.

MARSHALL VEST BUTLER, JR.

Harwood Literary Society; Senior Spanish Society; Athletic Association.

Marshall's greatest ambition is to become a newspaper reporter. We know that he will succeed in whatever he takes up in this line, and some day we expect to find him the "star" on some paper.

WILLIAM TILLMAN BUTLER

Dramatic Club; Forum Club; Athletic Association.

Many times have we heard Tillman express his desire to be lawyer, but some day on a Broadway stage we expect to hear him say, "Madame, I am Frederico of Frederico's players."

CAROLINE ELIZABETH CALDWELL

Art Club; Athletic Association.

What does life hold for one so reserved, so sweet as Caroline? Generally quiet, she can be gay and vivacious upon occasion. We know that she'll win the fame she deserves.

MARY ELIZABETH CALDWELL
LIZ

Skipper Club; Harwood Literary Society; Van Vort Debating Society.

The deeds she will do, the imprint of her name,
Will quickly be placed in the world's Book of Fame.
Whether directing a school, or research work,
She'll do it well and never shirk.

IRENE FORREST CAMPBELL
I-FA

Chatterbox Club; Athletic Association; Girl Reserves.

Irene at times is very witty,
And all of us agree she's pretty.
Her friends will always be many and true
And will be glad to say, "I knew her, too."

MARGARET IRVIN CAMPBELL

Athletic Association; Girl Reserves.

If into the future we look,
We'll see her behind a book.
To us this is not a mystery;
We are sure it'll be a history,
Because at this she is best,
And we can forsee her success.

HENRY LIBBON CANNON

SHOT

Athletic Association; Harwood Literary Society.

His personality and winning smile
Will aid him upward many a mile;
And, whether a lawyer or statesman bold,
I'm sure his success will be untold.

MARY EVELYN CANTOR

GIGGLES

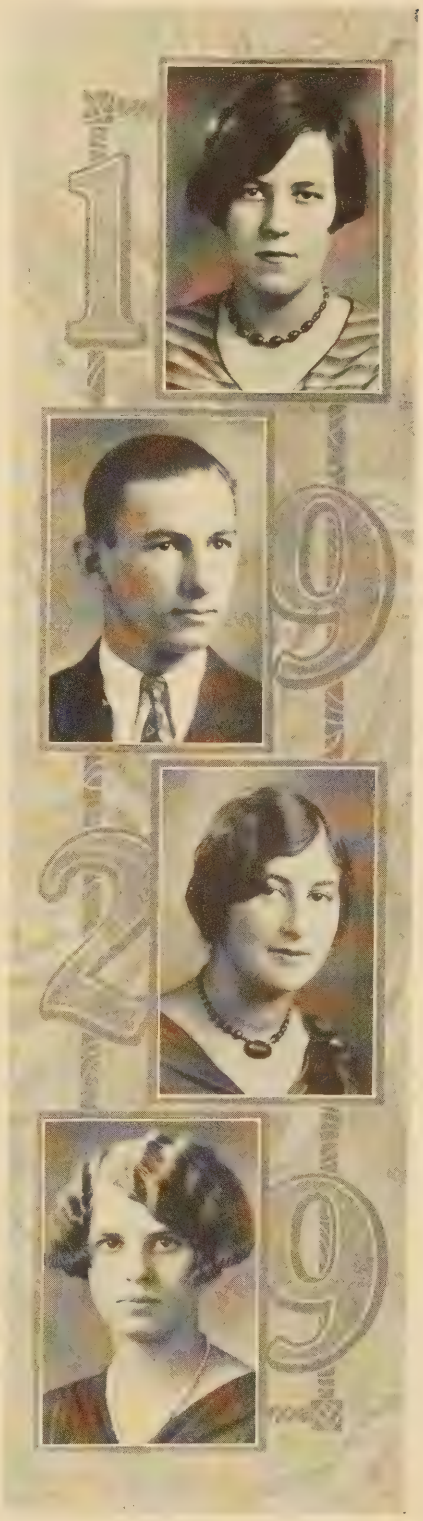
Athletic Association.

Sweet, unassuming, charming, a girl whose attractive personality draws friends like a magnet—her future couldn't be anything else but successful.

MARY ALICE CARLTON

Athletic Association.

Alice goes about her work with quiet determination. She is always ready to lend a helping hand to her fellow student. Luck is with you if you can obtain her friendship. Wherever she goes she will succeed.



FREDERICK WILLIAM CHAPMAN, JR.
FRED

Idma Club; Forum Club; Basketball Squad.

Fred is just a mischievous chap,
But someday he'll be serious, perhaps.
He always wears a sunny smile,
Which will lighten the burden of many a mile.
If luck's with him, he'll win,
For he's a Marshallite with a vim.

LILLIAN RUTH CHAPPELL
LILLI-ANNE

Athletic Association.

Who's that black-eyed, curly-haired girl that strolls the halls of John Marshall? Why, that's Lillian Chappell, our future musician. We hope that she may always tread the paths of luck and happiness in achieving her destiny.

JOSEPH EDWARD CHILDRESS
JOE

With his sonorous voice
He'll enliven the multitude that crowds into his church.
He'll electrify them, too, and keep them working lest
Their souls they smirch.

KATHERINE JETER CHILDREY
KATSY

Girl Reserves; Art Club; Athletic Association.

Katsy's golden future along these lines extends:
The art of wielding a paint-brush
And the art of making friends.

GRACE CHRISTIAN

Van Vort Debating Society.

Winsome, bright, very petite,
Grace is one who's hard to beat.
No matter what may be the feat,
She'll perform it, oh, so "neat"
That without her name at the top of the sheet
Life's honor roll won't be complete.

MARION ELMO CLARK

Skipper Club; Athletic Association; Class of Drama.

Eyes that laugh while lips are sober;
Quick to do her part.
Oft declaring mathematics
Dear unto her heart.
Skilful, too, in science and quite
Sure to make her mark.
Heart-whole? Yes! and fancy-free
Is Marion Elmo Clark.

GERTRUDE ELIZABETH CLARKE
TRUDY

Senior French Society; Athletic Association.

When into the future we cast a look,
We see, as in an open book,
A schoolroom filled with children neat,
And a teacher who is young and sweet.

MARY LUCY CLARKE
ICKY

Forum Club; Athletic Association.

Mary is true blue, witty, and humorous, always seeing the funny side, yet sympathetic and unselfish, always sharing the joy and sorrow of others. These characteristics have brought her true friends. Here's luck to her as a recreational director.

WILLIAM CRAIG CLARY

BILL

Athletic Association

William in math. and chemistry shines;
Already the ladder of fame he climbs.
Some day we'll see him a professor wise,
Wearing spectacles over his eyes.

WALTER WILLIAM CLAYTON

"Marshallite" Staff; Junior French Society.

An analysis of Walter's personality shows business acumen, a poetic vein, and a sense of humor. We can see him a success in any business or profession, but not buried in it for he will always know how to spend his leisure.

ALVIS MACON CLEMENT

AL

Athletic Association.

Al is a boy all are glad to know. With his cheerful smile and ability, he has won our hearts. Some day we expect the public to marvel at his discoveries in science.

WILLIAM HENRY CLEMMITT

BILL

Set your gaze upon him—truly a man of the world with his open hand and smile and plenty of reserve ability to do and dare. These qualities, together with his unshakable determination, must lead him on to some noble accomplishment.

MARY ELIZABETH CLINGMAN

BOBBY

Junior Spanish Society.

You will be able to live a full life, courageously and well, doing many deeds of love and kindness with some one always to inspire you on to greater things.

HANNAH CONWAY COALTER

Senior Spanish Society; Forum Club.

Hannah, with her generous, unselfish disposition, is always bright, happy, studious, and full of pep. A bright future is surely assured one of such a disposition.

HENRIETTA RANDOLPH COALTER

Athletic Association; Senior Spanish Society; Forum Club.

Only those who know Henrietta will appreciate her quiet and unassuming manner. With her ambitious and studious character, there is no doubt that the future has much in store for her.

EVELYN HARRISON COCKE

Bootsie Club; Girl Reserves; Athletic Association.

Evelyn is a winsome thing,
And to her the future is sure to bring
Health, fame, fortune, and love.
Ah! She's adored by the gods above.

JOSEPH COHEN
SCOTTY

Basketball Squad; Forum Club.

Why do we like Joe? It's his wonderful, magnetic personality, his joviality, his willingness to help. He is quite a shark in English, he has ability, and he can argue. We are sure he'll make a fine lawyer some day.

JOSEPH COHN
JOE

Athletic Association.

Joe thinks only of flying and aircraft; he is always looking up for planes. We know he will follow his nose 'till he reaches the top.

MYRON FRAYSER COLLINS
MIKE

Athletic Association.

We believe he will go far and accomplish much, and most certainly he has our hearty wishes for the best success.

RUTH LUCILLE COLLINS

Athletic Association.

Here we see the fair likeness of one whose
Friendship we've learned is true blue.
We see coming years bringing happiness,
Success, and love that is true.

MARY FRANKLIN CONNOR

Girl Reserves; Duckie Club; Athletic Association.

Mary is a lilac blooming,
Breathless—in a little space.
Wide-eyed, through the mist of the years,
She will be like rare old lace.

DOROTHY STUART COOKE

DOT

It wouldn't surprise me to hear bye and bye that Dot has accomplished great things in life and written her name in the sky.

GLADYS PAULINE COPLEY

She is a dark, curly-haired girl whose type is very rare. We are sure she will go far toward success, for she has "hitched her wagon to a star."

THELMA AUDREY CORSON

TAM

Her skill, her smile, her lovely grace,
Will win for her a very high place.

CLIFTON BERNARD COSBY

CLIFF

Marshall Debating Society; The Senate; Senior French Society.

Sticking by friends is Cliff's regular code;
He'll do anything to lighten the load.
A great inventor he's destined to be,
And to help poor, struggling humanity.

MARTHA MILDRED COTTRELL

Senior Spanish Society; Girl Reserves; Athletic Association.

Considered very quiet by some, but known to be a jovial, attractive girl by her friends, she's just a happy girl and a true pal. Although she intends to be a teacher, we think that she'll end by getting married!

WALKER CRUMP COTTRELL, JR.

The Senate; Class of Drama; Chorus; Junior French Society; Advertising Manager "The Monocle"; Cadet Corps.

If all his youthful ambitions come true, we may look in the papers ten years hence and read, "You can see as well as hear the world's best entertainment over the Cottrell Super-sputterdyne Radio."

VIRGINIA ANNE COWGILL

HALF-PINT

Athletic Association.

With her humor and intelligence in team
She may easily realize her fondest dream.

MOSES HOGE CRIGHTON, JR.

MO

Track '27, '28, '29, Captain '29; Tennis '27, '28; Junior French Society; Monogram Club; Saint Club; "Record" Staff; Athletic Association.

Mo as an "admiral" or a "Haliburton" will wander many an adventurous mile and finally settle down with a delightful store of "colorful" memories.

ALMA BURNETTE CRONE

BOOTS

Basketball.

Alma has carried her search low and high;
To accomplish all things she has said she would try.
It isn't worth while, for I'm sure you'll agree,
That somebody's stenog. she was cut out to be.

CLIFFORD CROWDER

SUGAR

Saint Club; Mascot Imp Club; Forum Club; Senior French Society; Baseball '27; Athletic Association; Cadet Corps.

We predict with some degree of certainty that, after four years at V. M. I., Sugar will be of great service to his country as well as God's gift to the ladies.

FRANKLIN WILLIAM CROWDER

Chorus; Junior Spanish Society.

Recently I went to hear Senator Crowder deliver an address. His pleasant voice recalled the persuasion he used to practice on the teachers at John Marshall.

JUNIUS BYNUM DE BERRY CROWDER

TEA BERRY

Athletic Association.

Time rolls on, and in the dim future we again see De Berry, still master of his fate.

MINNIE ROSEALTHA CROWDER

ROSE

Forum Club.

Brown eyes, dancing with mischief and glee,
A smile Cupid could well use,
A heart of gold.
What a combination, Rosealtha!
Friends you will always have by the score
And love—well—what need one say more?

VIRGINIA LEE CURRIE

Art Club; Girl Reserves; Senior French Society.

Through the fineness of her sensibility,
She shall lighten the load of all humanity.
And as a discoverer of mystery
Will banish crime and change life's history.

THELMA LEAH DANIELS

DAN

Your future stands out clear to all;
A doctor I see with a kit full of pills,
Helping poor folks to get rid of their ills.

GOLDIE SHIRELY DAVIDSON

Orchestra.

She cheers people with her musical talent and with her sunny disposition. We are certain that the public will love her as much as we do.

HENRY THOMAS DAVIS

Track Team; Athletic Association.

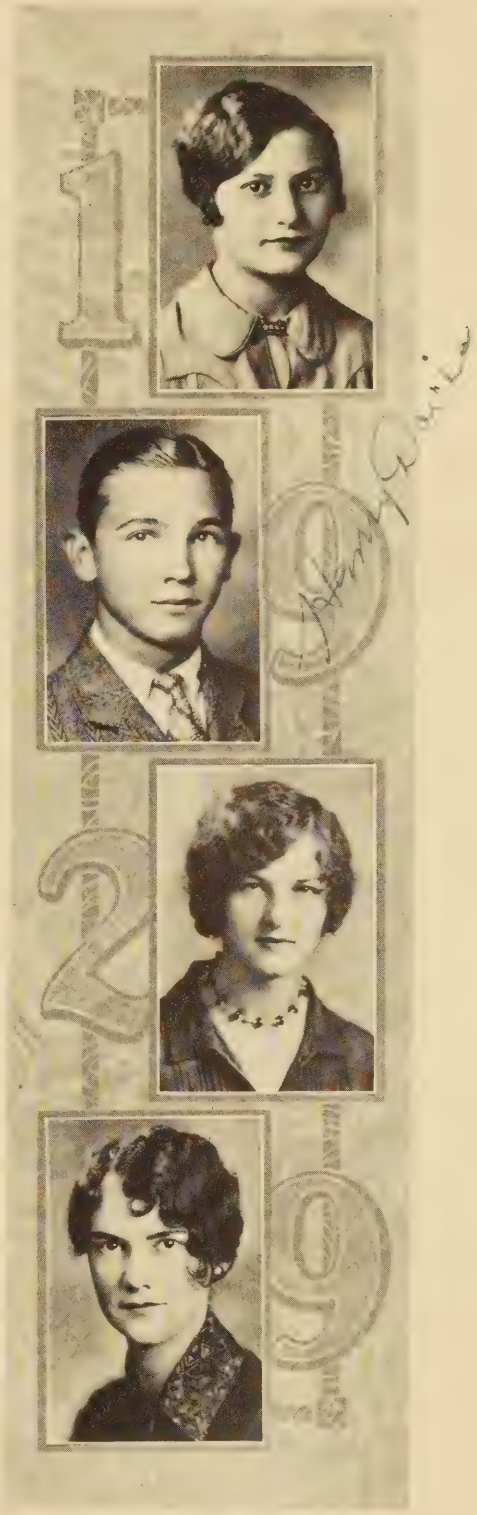
As we look our Henry over
To prophesy what he'll be,
We find it hard to do so,
Such an excellent boy is he.
Friendliness, helpfulness, kindness
Are three of his outstanding traits.
And we know that in the future
A brilliant career awaits.

WRAY ESTELLE DAVIS

Always smiling, always glad,
This you'll find in Wray.
As a typist in the business world
She'll make good some day.

CAROLINE DAVISON

Strong of mind is Caroline,
Independent of her J. M. sisters and brothers.
This is true, what else befalls:
She'll lead, not follow others.



TREADWELL DAVISON

TREADY

Cadet Corps; Athletic Association.

Quiet and unassuming,
But with a determined air, forsooth.
Friendly and unpresuming,
He'll pursue his search for truth.

FRANKLIN EUGENE DEAN

SLIM

Athletic Association.

Everyone who knows Slim knows of his fondness for Spanish and jazz music—some combination. We'll bet he craves the position of Ambassador to Spain, though he may be a second Paul Whiteman some day.

EVERETT LESTER DEANE

Forum Club.

Everett is loyal, dutiful, honest, and true. Equipped with these characteristics, he need not fear the future.

ALMA LEE DEBERRY

Van Vort Debating Society; Vice-President Skippers; Athletic Association; Senior Spanish Society.

As a musician she'll climb
The ladder of fame
Until in the limelight
Will be written her name.

JULIA FRANCES DEBERRY
JEFF

Athletic Association; Senior Spanish Society.

Three cheers for Julia; she drives away gloom.
She's merry and happy and gay.
She'll be a hard worker, never a shirker—
With success she'll be crowned some day.

BONNER LOUISE DEGARMO
BONNIE

Senior Spanish Society; Basketball Squad '27.

A brilliant student and a friend and helper to her classmates. We expect some day to see her wearing a white cap and restoring health in some big hospital.

JOHN WILLIAM DENNIS
BILL

Hi-Y Club; Athletic Association; Harwood Literary Society.

On the rungs of ambition he mounts to the top;
It is only there he is forced to stop.
Fame is his and wealth, and then—Oh, list!
He becomes, indeed, a true philanthropist.

MARGARET RANDOLPH DEW
MARGIE

Forum Club; Athletic Association.

We prophesy that in your own quiet way you will attain success in whatever you attempt.

EVELYN LEOTA DICKENS
DICK

Junior Spanish Club; Forum Club.

It is said of some girls that they are "cut out" for this or that, but Evelyn has vital interest in everything and adaptability that opens to her any number of careers.

ANN ELIZABETH DICKINSON

Van Vort Debating Society; Girl Reserves; Forum Club; Athletic Association.

True-hearted, whole-hearted,
Lovable as can be,
Loyal ever, long-faced never,
Happy ever she'll be.

JOHN WILLIAM DOBSON
JACK

Cadet Corps.

He doesn't want to be a soldier brave;
What he longs for is a life on the ocean wave,
Or better still, to make his wish complete,
To be one of the navy's "flying fleet."

JAMES WOODFIN DODD, JR.
JIMMY

The Senate; Hi-Y; Forum; Marshall Debating Society; Athletic Association.

This fellow, Dodd, is some sort of a speaker.
He can make the bold meek and the meek even meeker.
For a radio announcer he is ideally fit.
If he doesn't become that, in the "Senate" he'll sit.

ROBERTA MARY DONATI
BOBBY

Vice-President Spanish Club; Athletic Association; Oh! Margy Club.

We, who worship from afar,
Think of you as of a star,
Whose sparkling light we watch with awe
And swear its equal we never saw.
Who is so great that can foretell
The future that your beauties spell?

DOROTHY DRUSILLA DOUGLAS
DOT

Basketball.

A smile for everyone—that's Dot. Her winning ways and disposition have won many friends at school, and they'll some day win for her a high place in life.

FLORENCE ALMA DOUGLAS
RED

Always smiling and happy, winning for herself many friends is Red. If she can type as fast as she can talk, she will be a very efficient stenographer.

LEONA ROSS DREWRY
NONNIE

Bootsie Club; Athletic Association; Girl Reserves; Dramatic Club; Senior French Society.

Happy and smiling all day long,
Nonnie's a friend who can't go wrong.
Whatever she does, she'll ever be true.
Good luck, Nonnie, and happiness for you!

KATHRYN ROSE DUCKHARDT

KITTY

Athletic Association.

"To know her is to love her." Kitty's sunny disposition and ready smiles are sure to win her many friends and bring success in any field of work she may enter.

ROTHERMEL McLEAN DUKE

DICK

Athletic Association.

When later in business this boy you see,
Look back and consider this prophecy.
He's studious and bright and always true,
And doesn't give up 'till his task is through.

MARGARET GRAYSON DUNN

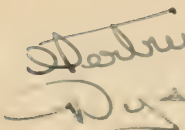
BUD

President Imps; Mascot Saints; Reporter Senior Class; Dramatic Club; Forum Club; Girl Reserves; "Record" Staff; Cheer Leader '27, '28; Sponsor Company E.

Who is this queen of the salon for intellectuals? No other, Bud! But it isn't such a surprise when you remember that she had the brains to get nineties, and the personality to be the most popular girl in school.

LOIS DUPREE

Attractive, sparkling Lois Dupree.
She has personality plus, we all say.
That she'll shine in society can easily be seen,
Or maybe she'll win fame on the movie screen.



GERTRUDE BRUCE DYSON

Athletic Association.

We show you here our good Gertrude,
A maid of charming mien and mood . . .
We know her, how—and how!—to rate her:
She'll be some lad's (we'll say she would)
Divine interior decorator.

ANNA ELIZABETH EDGAR

Chatter Box Club; Dramatic Club; Senior Spanish Society.

Is she pretty?
Look in her eyes.
There a light of genius lies.
She's an artist!
Some day in the Hall of Fame
We predict you'll find her name.

CHARLES EDGAR

Charles inclines toward the military,
The life of a soldier brave.
The parade, the field, and the barracks
Are the things he seems to crave.

ELLEN POCAHONTAS EDWARDS

POKY

Athletic Association; Secretary-Reporter Chatter Box Club.

Here's to the girl who knows her books!
Here's to the girl on the way to fame!
Pocahontas is her name.

BOLLING HATCH ELLIS

The Senate; Dramatic Club; Forum Club; Athletic Association.

Ellis is that boy with the chippy air.
He'll some day achieve success if his chances are but fair.
A great musician he'll become as sure as you are born;
We shall pay to hear him play before our last day's dawn.

LOUIS DABNEY ELLIS

LOUIE

Athletic Association; Junior Spanish Society.

We stand awed as multi-billionaire Ellis, the owner of autocratic Louis XIV line of autos and aeroplanes, glides by in his luxurious parlor sedan!

MARGARET KNIGHT ELLIS

MARGIE

Margaret, so gentle and sweet,
Always dressed so "neat";
Teacher, musician, and artist,
Famous, yes, but modest—
All this we see
That you will be!

DOROTHY ELIZABETH ELY

DOT

Treasurer Wilsonian Debating Society '26; Athletic Association.

A nature so gay and winsome
With harmony and art combined
Will experience no great obstacles
When the ladder of success she climbs.

FRANCES LOUISE ELY

Athletic Association.

"To know her is to love her"
Her friends will all confess,
And we know the future holds for her
Much joy and happiness.

FRANK BECKER EPPS

POMMY

Monk Club; Sergeant Cadet Corps; Athletic Association; Manager Basketball Team '29.

His love for discipline and square dealing will make him a real man.

RAYMOND BUFORD EUBANK

RAY

Athletic Association.

Industrious, capable, alert;
His views in life he will assert.
His position among men I cannot tell,
But whatever he undertakes
He will accomplish and do well.

GEORGE EUKSUZIAN

UKE

Monk Club; Lieutenant Cadet Corps; Orchestra.

Snappy step, oodles of pep;
Plenty good rep—
Just George.
Cheery grin, turned up chin on a violin—
Friend George.
Music rings out when he's about.
Famous he'll be with such ability—
Our George.

ERNEST EDWARD EVANS
IMSKI

Athletic Association.

Aviation is Ernest's great aim;
Some day he'll surpass Lindy's fame,
And when to the South Pole he makes his flight,
Among the great his name we'll write.

ELEANOR VIRGINIA FAILING

Athletic Association; Forum Club.

Eleanor, with her pretty brown eyes and hair and vivid personality, has caught the magic flame. As a reward for her art studies, we expect to see her among the notables in the Hall of Fame.

HOWARD PARKER FALLS

Forum Club; Marshall Debating Society; Hi-Y Club; "Record" Staff.

Ambitious, frolicsome, personality galore. We have never heard what Howard intends to be, but we think that engineering will be his ultimate goal, though his persuasive eloquence, it is thought, would make him a good politician.

ERNEST WATSON FARLEY, Jr.

Sergeant Cadet Corps.

He, like the most, to college will go;
He will study and then he will know
How to make lights or automobiles,
Anything electrical or objects with wheels.
But whatever he does will bring success
To him and to others much happiness.

BEULAH ELIZABETH FEATHERSTON

LIZ

Girl Reserves; Forum Club; Spanish Society; Athletic Association.

Something new she will create,
New in style of dress—and wait!
What is this? A money mint?
A count? A duke? What puzzlement!
Ah! Let's see! A doctor, too!
What? More men? No end to you!

LOUIS MARX FELDMAN

LOU

Marshall Debating Society; Forum Club; Athletic Association; Track Team.

What Lou'll do or what he'll be
Is the question that's puzzling me,
But whatsoever he does, by glory!
He'll do it well, and that's no story.

YETTA FELDMAN

YED

Athletic Association.

Yed has a roving spirit;
Traveling to her is a delight.
Before very long, I do predict,
She'll see the world with all its sights.

WILLIAM FRED FIDLER

When Fred Fidler's name is known to fame
By his writings (mostly in rhyme),
You'll hear us say 'most any old day,
"We've known it all the time."

EVERETT CURTIS FLEMING

BUB

Athletic Association.

His genuine good humor
And his attractive ways
Will secure for him friends
In the forthcoming days.

MABEL GLADYS FLIPPEN

French Club; Forum Club.

"Pleasure fill your youthful years.
Drop your studying if it interferes."
A constant worry to the teachers, but a most steadfast and true friend is our Mabel. Here's predicting success for her in the business world.

HARRY WEISIGER FLYNN

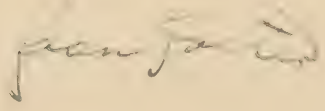
HAPPY

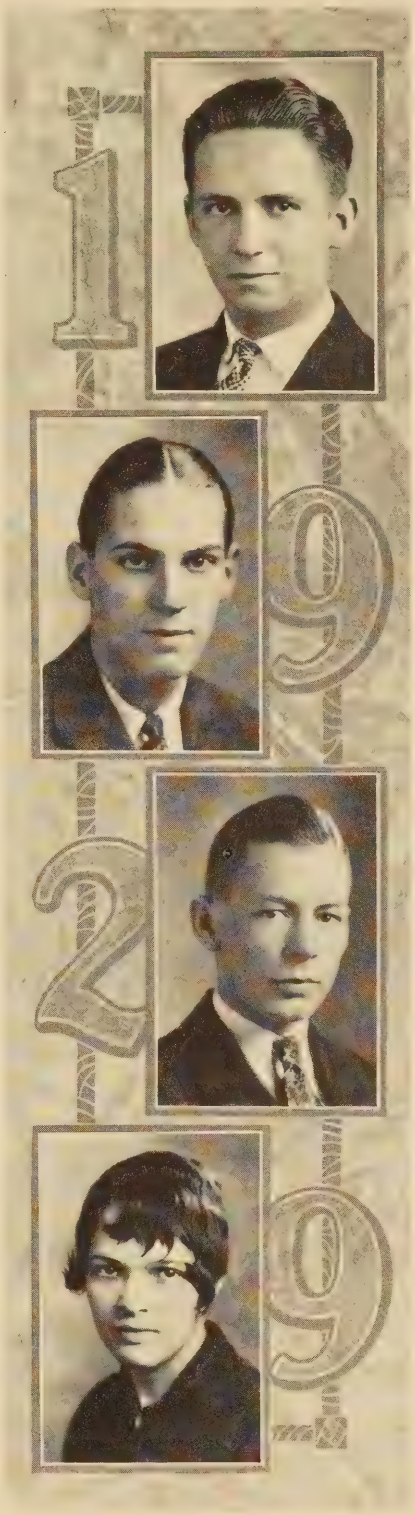
Always talking and chewing gum,
Always kidding and full of fun,
Always eager for laughter or jest,
That's the Harry we like best!
What he'll do is hard to say,
But he'll find his place some day.

JEAN CRENSHAW FOSTER

Chic Club; Senior French Society; Athletic Association.

Jean is very chic in style,
And talks, talks all the while.
Her future is curtained, but magically clear.
I see romance, real romance, far and near.





THOMAS FLEMMING FOSTER

TOMMY

Boys' Chorus; Athletic Association; Forum Club.

When Thomas steps out upon life's trail
Great things for the world to do,
We can rest assured he will not fail
To carry his ideals through.

Arthur Y. Fox

ARTHUR YOUHILL FOX

FOXY

Athletic Association; Marshall Debating Society; Forum Club; Class of Drama; Chorus.

When one individual
Does so many things well,
How can one prophesy
In what he'll excel?
An artist, a scholar, a social success—
Whate'er is his life-work, he'll do his best.

JULIAN GOLDSTON FRASIER, Jr.

JUNIE

Sergeant Cadet Corps; Athletic Association.

His upright manner and forward ways
Will make him successful in after days.

DOROTHY LEE FRAYSIER

DOT

Aesop said years ago, "Good things come in small packages," but here is the exception which proves the rule. We shall be watching Dot and are expecting great things of her.

ALMA IELEEN FREDRICKSEN
FRED

She's witty and she's pretty,
And she never does complain.
We'll all admit her smiles and wit
Some day will bring her fame.

ADELAIDE OVERTON FREY

Adelaide's winning personality and loyalty to her friends are enough to carry her through life successfully.

CARLYLE TENNANT FROST
BUDDY

Lieutenant Cadet Corps.

Surely, because of his winning way
And that wit you can't exhaust,
The ones who gain success some day
Will include our Buddy Frost.

MARGARET MINERVA FRY

Dramatic Club; Athletic Association.

A pretty girl, with marked musical and dramatic talents is Margaret. Add her abilities as an entertaining conversationalist, and we find a most charming person, to whom practically every field of life will be open.

FRANCES VIRGINIA FULKES

JINX

Athletic Association.

When life and ideas shall have followed the example of modern art and become a chaotic jumble of triangles, parallels, prisms, and vivid colors, Virginia will stand out like a sketch in black and white—distinct, arresting, definite.

Tommy Fussell.

JAMES THOMAS HENRY FUSSELL

TOMMY

Dramatic Club; Writers' Club; Secretary Monk Club; Cadet Sergeant-Major; Spanish Society; Harwood Literary Society; "Monocle" Staff.

Epicure of all of beauty,
Wanderer upon the earth,
Seeing, feeling, loving, testing,
Taking all that seems of worth;
Artist of the varied whimsies
That beset your teeming brain.
Pen or diplomatic service
Will for you large honor gain.

MARGARET EDMUNDS GAINES

Skipper Club; Girl Reserves.

"Miss Margaret Gaines, Ph. D. (Harvard), spoke recently at the Woman's Club on 'The Part Played by Women in International Relations.' A large audience received enthusiastically the address of this most famous of John Marshall's daughters." (Alumni Notes, The Record, May, 1949.)

REBECCA HARLAN GARDNER

BECKIE

Beckie can do all things, 'tis true.
She knows typewriting and shorthand, too.
She's quite an apt pupil and brilliant, you see.
A professor in Spanish I think she will be.

BEN HIPPLE GARRETT

Athletic Association; Cadet Corps.

His ready smile and unassuming way have won for him a place in the hearts of all who know him. He'll make good, we're sure, and not brag about it either.

MARGARET ELIZABETH GATHRIGHT

DUCK

Girl Reserves; Senior French Society; Archery '27.

If success comes to folks
Who're attractive and gay,
Then success is certain to Come your way.

ETHEL OTEY GAULDING

Ethel has made many friends in her own quiet way, and we love her. We know she'll have success and happiness in life.

CAROLYN CHRISTIAN GILLIAM

GENE

Duckie Club; Athletic Association.

A happy high school girl,
Who's living in a whirl of joyful things,
And yet, it seems she clings,
With her smiling eyes of Heaven's skies,
To one, a home career with him,
Not far from here,
Carolyn!

ELIZABETH DORSET GILLIAM

BETSY

Hockey Team; Athletic Association.

Elizabeth, that dreamy girl with the expression of a genius, will be a musician of great note, producing the lovely melodies of the great masters.

WILLIAM HENDRICK GILMORE

Athletic Association; Cadet Corps.

William Gilmore is his name.
What more could he want for fame?
Studying and teasing are his prominent traits;
Virgil's "Aeneid" is the thing he hates.
In the future we shall see
Whether architect or electrician he'll be.

MARGARET DAWNTON GLASS

MAG, MICKEY

Athletic Association; "Record" Staff.

Mickey is so versatile
It's hard for us to say
Whether she'll be a writer
Or choose another way.
But one thing we are sure of:
She will win great fame some day.

ETHEL LAVERNE GLAZEBROOK

MIKE

Who is the brown-eyed maiden,
So very clever, too?
We predict a future laden
With much success for you.

JACOB PAUL GLICK

J. P.

Cadet Corps; Athletic Association; Marshall Debating Society.

Mr. Glick, as he should be called at all times, is a financial wizard. His ability has been compared with J. P. Morgan's. That is why he is called J. P.; some day he will be even greater than his idol.

ESTELLE GOLDEN

Estelle Golden, of the Class of '29,
Is a loving school chum, always true and kind.
At Latin it is evident that she is quite a "shark,"
And we know that as a teacher she will surely make her mark.

LENNA GOODE

Forum Club; Athletic Association; Senior Spanish Society.

Lenna is the girl with big brown eyes,
Who is endowed with charm that never dies.
Regarding what she'll do in life we can but surmise
That in any calling to the heights she'll rise.

FLORENCE GORDON

Van Vort Debating Society.

In her classes she is always on top,
And keeps the others on a hop.
If her brain keeps working as it is now,
By the time she is twenty she'll be a "wow."

MARY ALICE GRANTHAM

"Marshallite" Staff; "Record" Staff; Athletic Association; Senior French Society.

Quiet, sedate, refined, and sweet.
With this Marshallite dear no one can compete.
We all know her for her winning way
And predict for her great fame some day.

ELIZABETH STUART GRAY

LIB

Athletic Association.

Rap-tap-tap! There she is at the typewriter rapping out her latest story or her next political speech. Is it the author or the stateswoman? Whichever of her ambitions she realizes, I know she'll do it well—that's Lib!

JAMES GRIFFIN

JIMMY

Jimmy's winning personality and his love of fun will continue to win for him many friends. Some day, perhaps, he'll be a bugler in the army. (Who knows?)

LYDIA ANN GRIFFIN

DEAR

It's her wonderful charm and personality which will make her great.
We do not know what she'll be, but leave it to fate.

ELIZABETH MURRILL GRIMES

LIZ

Chairman "Les Volontiers"; Harwood Literary Society; Girl Reserves; Senior French Society; Athletic Association; Junior Spanish Society.

Here's to Elizabeth, peppy and sweet.
She's a girl who's hard to beat;
Always smiling, always gay
Is the way you find her every day.
We think teaching for her is best,
And know she'll be a great success.

LEON GROSSMAN

LEE

Sergeant Cadet Corps; Basketball Squad; Harwood Literary Society.

Here's a boy with a happy face,
Capable, willing, and ready to do.
Of boys like him you'll find very few.
We hope that his path will be strewn with success.
An engineer he'll be—one of the best.

DOROTHY KATHARINE GRUENER

DOT

Van Vort Debating Society; Athletic Association; Reporter Spanish Society.

Life and its wondrous meaning—
That is her daily quest.
She has the courage to face it
And the future with ready zest.

JENNIE PUREFOY GUNTER

FOY

Girl Reserves; Athletic Association; Hockey Team; Senior French Society.

The future for Foy
Should be full of joy
And happiness where'er she may be.
She will win success,
The highest—no less,
For a favorite with all (even fate) is she.

EVELYN FRANCES GUTHRIE
EBBY

Girl Reserves; Athletic Association; Forum Club; Senior Spanish Society.

A winning smile, a girl worthwhile,
With a heart that is fond and true.
Success will surely come to her
In whatever she attempts to do.

DOROTHEA MAE GWYNN
LITTLE ONE

President Van Vort Debating Society; Dramatic Club; "Marshallite" Staff; Junior French Society.

If you want a pal who is happy and gay
With a laugh and a smile to drive care away,
Just come to our Dot, who some day will be
The wife of a High School man, just wait and see.

ADA LEZETTA HAMILTON
EDIE

Athletic Association.

A true friend and a real daughter of the Blue and White is Ada. We shall hate to part with one so lovable. We prophesy for her a bright and happy future filled with the best of luck.

JOHN BEVERLY HANCOCK, JR.
RUSTY

Marshall Debating Society; The Senate; Athletic Association.

Study? Well, I guess.
Ride? Beats all the rest.
Hike? Yes, to the West.

With these varied interests, Rusty will enjoy life. He is ambitious, too. Surely a rosy future awaits him at V. P. I.

MILDRED HANCOCK

Athletic Association.

The willingness to do for others is the firmest of all foundations, and on this, we trust, Mildred will build a towering future crowned with success.

VIRGINIA WALTON HANCOCK

Athletic Association; Girls' Club; Senior French Society.

This is Virginia, tall, graceful, and thin,
With great talent in music her fame she will win.
She is modest, demure, and with glorious, brown eyes.
Her future looks brilliant; she'll sure cop a prize.

LILY TRAHERN HANN

Athletic Association.

The door of the future is opened—
There's Lily with bundles of mail.
"Please send me an autographed picture,"
"Please go with me for a sail."
There're smiles, no tears;
There're laughs, no fears.
There's happiness throughout the years!

BLAIRE LEE HARDAWAY

Van Vort Debating Society; Athletic Association.

I ordered an article
From the save-your-pennies store.
It didn't come when promised,
So I began to roar.
I went straight to the manager,
Who turned slowly in her chair.
"Where is my money?" I yelled,
Then hushed. There sat Blaire!

MARY LILLIAN HARGRAVE
LIL

Athletic Association; Senior French Society; Forum Club.

Lil is the sweet little girl with musical ambitions. She is never satisfied until she finishes what she begins, and does her task to the best of her ability. With such admirable traits she is bound to win.

MARY KATHRYN HARRIS
KAT

Senior French Society; Athletic Association; Girl Reserves; Van Vort Debating Society.

Talent and grace,
A paragon of beauty—
What more could be wanted?
In the musical world
She will take her place
And still have the spirit
That cannot be daunted.

MYRTLE IMOGEN HARRIS
MERT

Athletic Association; Forum Club.

Loyal, faithful, kind, and true
In everything she tries to do
Is this girl whose face you see.
An A-1 stenographer she will be.

OTWAY GRAY HARRIS
SCOTTY

Athletic Association; Forum Club; Lieutenant "A" Company.

Gray says he wants to go out West
To study and to roam;
He may do the latter, but as to the first
He never did it at home.

ANNE FRANCES HARRISON

Athletic Association; Girl Reserves; Senior French Society.

We love Anne for her winsome way,
Her laughing giggle the live-long day;
And in some future day, she'll be
A famous woman; wait and see.

ARTHUR MAHONE HARRISON, Jr.

Senior French Society; Cadet Corps; Athletic Association.

This boy with the wavy chestnut hair, which all the girls envy, has high ambitions. If he gives his attention to the fulfilling of these ambitions, who says he won't make good?

BURR POWELL HARRISON, Jr.

PAL

Lieutenant Cadet Corps; Writers' Club; Forum Club; Athletic Association; "Marshallite" Staff; Business Manager "The Monocle."

You've a pleasing personality,
And better yet, mentality
That wins for you
Many friends, who'll stand by long
To see an author who is strong
In love, and in work is true.

JULIA FRANCES HARWOOD

HARRY

Van Vort Debating Society.

Her modest and unassuming personality has already won for her many friends and honors, and we have no reason to believe that the future will not find her continuing on in the way she's started.

HELEN VIRGINIA HASSEL

Athletic Association.

Thy starry eyes mirror a spirit with wings,
A spirit that soars with the eagle and sings
Of brave things and gay things and true.
Oh, life has a promise of rare things for you.

FRANCES TEDDY HAUFT
FRANKIE

Athletic Association.

Her quite faithful friendship
And always pleasant smile
Will cheer the spot she's in
And lessen many a trial.

MARY LOIS HAYNES

Chatter Box Club.

Mary has the gift of cheering people, of making things seem better. She gives the world the best she has, and the best will come back to her.

AUDREY LEE HAYRE
BUNNY

Van Vort Debating Society.

Sunny-faced and sunny-hearted is Audrey. Dependable and capable, she is ready to take part in any phase of school life. We believe that her ready smile will continue to win many friends, and we predict success for her.

ELEANOR VIRGINIA HAZELGROVE
ELNA

French Society; Spanish Society; Athletic Association.

Whenever you hear a burst of gay laughter, you always know Elna is somewhere around. Future school teacher, we envy your pupils.

ISABEL ANTWYNE HEATH
SKINNY

Athletic Association.

Can't you see Skinny in the Metropolitan Opera House? Why, of course, for that is just the career we predict for her.

BETTIE FLETCHER HECHLER
FLETCH

Bettie will attain that for which she strives, and she will be ever striving.

KATHERINE HEISLER
KITTY

Athletic Association.

Dreamy eyes and a low, soft voice—the seer foretells many broken hearts because of Kitty. Probably the captivation of beauty on canvas looms in the offing.

DOROTHY VIRGINIA HENDRICKS
DOT

Athletic Association.

Charming personality will bring her a host of friends, and her life will be serene and happy because she will make it so.

BERNARD JOHN HENLEY
RIP VAN WINKLE

Athletic Association; Cadet Corps; Marshall Debating Society.

'Tis not for me to say how high
Bernard will attempt to fly,
For he will try and he will do
Things impossible for me or you.

MARGUERITE RUTH HENLEY
MICKEY

Athletic Association; Girl Reserves.

Her hands are deft, her mind is keen,
She's the best all-'round girl we've ever seen.
Soon her goal she will attain;
As a music teacher she'll rightly reign.

DORIS SHEWBRIDGE HETZER
VICK

Athletic Association.

Vick is a true sport, always ready to have a good time, and yet willing to stop at the right time. Hold on to this policy, Vick, and the future will roll easily.

WALKER HAWES HILL

The Senate; Marshall Debating Society; Writers' Club; Junior French Society; Editor of the "Marshallite"; Athletic Association; Cadet Corps.

It was said by a wise philosopher,
"Hitch your wagon to a star."
And by following this instruction
Walker's destined to go far.

RICHARD MILTON HOBSON

Athletic Association; Senior Spanish Society.

The pilot of the first non-stop flight from Shanghai to Richmond steps from his plane and is carried off on the shoulders of the enthusiastic, cheering spectators. The same Milton, calm, shy, unchanged by praise and distinction!

BYRNE ALDEN HOEN

Athletic Association.

Byrne is artistic and wants to do magazine work. She'll rival Norman Rockwell; just you see!

SARAH EDITH SMITH HOGAN

Girl Reserves; Basketball Squad; Hockey Team.

Edith has starred at John Marshall in history, basketball, and good humor. King William County claims Edith as her daughter, and to King William as a teacher of physical and health education we prophesy she will some day return.

ANN ELIZABETH HOGG

PIG

Van Vort Debating Society; Athletic Association.

Those who know Ann are lucky; those who never had the pleasure are unfortunate. Her personality will always bring her friends and will make her future an interesting one.

JANE DREW HOLMES

Athletic Association; Harwood Literary Society.

Fun-loving and true,
That's our girl-friend, Drew;
Some day you'll see her name
Emblazoned in the Hall of Fame.
Can't you hear us saying then,
"Don't you remember—when"?

ROBERT PAYNE HOLT

ROB

Forum Club; Hi-Y Club; Senior Spanish Society; Harwood Literary Society; Athletic Association; Cadet Corps.

He's just a teasing boy;
Full of fun is he.
That look of awful dignity
Is just pretense, you see.
Soon this teasing boy
Will grow into a man;
Then, I know, he'll have wealth and joy
And friends on every hand.

ALICE GERTRUDE HOPKINS

AL

This is to you, Alice—so blonde and fair,
With blue-gray eyes and tawny hair.
I'm wondering whether your path in life
Will lead to the altar—or a school marm's life!

AUDREY LEE HORD

Reporter Oh! Margy Club.

Here's to a girl who's full of glee.
A stenographer is what she'll be.
Full of smiles and laughter, too,
Audrey's a girl with a heart true blue.

LOUISE HORTENSE HORNER

Athletic Association.

A lover of horses, a good rider, too;
A willing worker in all she tries to do.
We know her future holds luck and fame.
In the hall of honor we'll read her name.

GOLDIE IRENE HORWITZ

BEBE

Van Vort Debating Society; Athletic Association; Basketball Squad '28; Senior French Society.

A Lady Astor in the making. Intellectual and charming, Goldie will surely cross the bridge of knowledge and attain recognition as a personality of note.

LEWIS STILLMAN HOWE

CHINK, STEWKY

Cadet Corps; Harwood Literary Society.

No one can help liking Stillman,
The boy with the genial smile.
He'll succeed if anyone does
And accomplish something worthwhile.

ELISE ARAMINTHA HOWELL
PUDGE

Skipper Club.

Her humor, her intellect are ever so keen;
Her kindness and patience will always be seen;
Her luck star's shining with a steady light.
A peep into the future—everything's bright.

EVELYN PENDLETON HUBAND
SNOOKS

A temper! Ye gods, yes—
And her hair is red, too, in the sun,
But just look in her deep blue eyes.
There the soul of genius lies.
Some day in the Hall of Fame
As champion talker we'll find her name.

HARRY CARTER HUBBARD

Cadet Corps.

Bad luck will follow you but will never be able to catch you.

ERNEST CLIFTON HUDGINS
CLIFF

Captain "A" Company; Vice-President Senior Class; President Junior Class '27; Saints; Honor Court.

A true gentleman, neat as a pin, with a preference for blondes! A fine personality that commands the admiration and respect of all; surely there is success in store for him.

ROBERT SCOTT HUDGINS

BOBBIE

Athletic Association; "Marshallite" Staff.

Everyone who knows Bobbie likes him. Yet he is more absorbed in things than self—a good trait, surely. Give him something mechanical to work with, and he is satisfied. I think that Edison has a rival in Bobbie!

WILLIAM J. HUDGINS, JR.

MONK

Assistant Business Manager of the "Record."

Monk has gained such practical experience while riding in his Ford that we know he will make good as a mechanical engineer.

LEROY EARLEN HUDSON

LEE, ROY

Twenty years from now, if you meet a tall, handsome aviator making ardent love to every young lady, you will know it is the same old Lee, now Colonel Hudson, of the U. S. Air Corps.

MARGARET CAMERON HUDSON

Van Vort Debating Society; Writers' Club; Senior Spanish Society.

Will it be the dancing eyes and dimples or the soundness of scholarship that wins her success in her life's work? We're waiting to read one of your books, Margaret.

NELLIE JOHNSON HUDSON

Duckie Club; Dramatic Club; Athletic Association; Forum Club.

Our little bright, brown-eyed "Duckie"
Has a winning smile that's "happy-go-lucky";
Whatever she does, she always does well—
From her musical art to being a belle.

THELMA TERESA HUFFMAN

Athletic Association.

The sweetness of manner, the refinement of taste that single her out now will go far toward making her a success in whatever she may undertake in the future.

MILLER HUGHES

Miller has a restless mind;
He tried many things his goal to find.
He tells us now that his way is clear,
That he's going to settle down to be an engineer.

LEOTA KATHRYN HULL

KITTY

Athletic Association; Archery Club; Basketball '27.

As yet she hasn't chosen
What path in life she'll take;
But, whichever one she follows,
Her mark she's sure to make.

ASHBY EXALL HUNTER

Athletic Association; Cadet Corps; Writers' Club; "Record" Staff '28; "Marshallite" Staff; "Monocle" Staff.

He has plenty of friends, and no wonder, you'll mind—
He's naive, congenial, friendly, and kind.
He's versatile, musical, far from demure.
Old Ashby, success is for you, we are sure!

HAROLD HOUSTON HUTCHESON
HUTCHIE

Assistant Manager Baseball '28; Athletic Association.

By the rule he is tall;
But by ouija that's not all.
For he's a jolly, good friend;
His gift for gab has no end.
And when he comes before the bar,
Ouija says he'll shine like a star.

PAUL HUTZLER
PARVIA

Cadet Corps; Athletic Association; Harwood Literary Society.

Whatever he may aspire to be—
A doctor, banker, or attorney—
He'll do good work, and success will lurk
In payment of his industry.

ANGELYN HARVEY INGLES
ANNE

Reporter Pep Club; Writers' Club; Senior French Society; "Record" Staff; Historian Senior Class; Athletic Association; Publicity Chairman Girl Reserves.

For a girl so very attractive,
Original, sincere, and bright,
Good fortune has assigned a place
To be a shining light.

ARTHUR DARRINGTON JACKSON, Jr.
JACK

Cadet Corps; Forum Club; Athletic Association.

Perhaps we'll never meet again
As on he makes his way.
His life is due to show us all
That things unknown today
Will all be seen tomorrow's time—
And now he's on his way.

ABE MEYER JACOBSON
ABIE

Dramatic Club; Forum Club; "Marshallite" Staff; Athletic Association.

A splendid business man is Abe. He has enterprise, force, and initiative; he can act, too. Whether he elects to go in business or on the stage, we'll hear about him. He'll be successful in either choice.

EVELYN EDITH JAMISON
EB

Forum Club; Dramatic Club; Junior Spanish Society.

Ever so charming,
Ever so appealing,
Such a good speaker is she,
If we can judge aright,
She'll turn to bright lights
And a great actress she'll be.

HELEN MAYNARD JETER
JEAT

Home Economics Club; Van Vort Debating Society '27; Athletic Association.

Social Service is now her theme;
It may prove to be just a dream,
But whatever her work, we know she'll not shirk
But stick to her task with a will.

ELMYRA McKENZIE JOHNSON

MYRA

Athletic Association.

Of sparkling eyes and golden hair
It's plain to see she she has her share.
Elmyra's bright and fair and smart,
And wins her way straight to the heart.
Whatever she does, wherever she'll be,
She'll be successful, Yes sir—ee!

WILLIAM ANDERSON JOHNSON

BILL

Athletic Association.

William loves to wield the pen and draw the shaded lines.
His note books are covered over with all sorts of gay designs;
And so we judge the future years will our William know
As a draughtsman famed or, better still, a Michael Angelo.

ANNE BROOKE JONES

Girl Reserves; Athletic Association.

When you see Anne going by with a smile and a friendly word for every one, you know that she is sure to succeed in whatever she may try. Wherever she goes she will always have many friends.

GARTH ARCHER JONES

GOOFUS

The Senate; "Record" Staff; Athletic Association.

His soul is filled with music;
His heart is filled with song,
And, as year glides by year,
Of him we will hear,
For he will succeed ere long.

GEORGE WILEY GEOTHAL JONES
BUSTER

Athletic Association.

In the country George got his start,
And a good beginning it was, too.
He's thrifty and steady; he's studious and smart.
He'll seek out great things to do.

MARGARET CARTER JONES
PEGGY

Writers' Club; Senior French Society; Athletic Association; Girl Reserves.

Former Collegiate,
This J. M. graduate,
Will surely glorify
(Tho she may amplify)
In clearest dulcet tones
The patronized Jones.

MARY HARDING JONES
MAINIE

Writers' Club; Athletic Association.

She makes her clothes and thinks it fun.
Budgets she can keep.
Her home on all its wheels will run.
No debts to make him weep.

MORRIS H. JONES
BUZZY

Athletic Association; Baseball '28.

Morris is a draughtsman you probably know,
Just the kind to make the dough.
So give him a triangle and a square
To plan his castle in the air.

THOMAS DAVID JONES, JR.
TOM JUNIOR

Athletic Association; Cadet Corps.

With his engaging personality and pleasant manner David gains the admiration of all wherever he may be. Surely, his ship will come in laden with good fortune.

FANNIE MAE JUSTA
FAY

Harwood Literary Society.

Here's to a girl with bright blue eyes,
Whate'er her future ambition may be,
We are sure it will be worthwhile.

HERMAN RAYMOND KAPLIN
KAB

Marshall Debating Society; Corporal Cadet Corps; Athletic Association; Harwood Literary Society.

With the stern determination of the soldier and the uncanny genius of a writer, Kab will surely rise to towering heights as a man of letters.

MABEL IRENE KAPPES

Van Vort Debating Society; Senior Spanish Society; Athletic Association.

Just a quiet and charming girl is Mabel, who has both grace and talent. We predict that she will always have success, happiness, and a host of friends.

CHARLOTTE ELIZABETH KASTEN

Forum Club; Athletic Association.

Life will be to her nothing but a smile, one that will help the world to laugh. Why? Because she will bring to the world her own laughter and joy.

DAVID HENRY KATZ, Jr.

DAVE

Athletic Association; Sergeant Cadet Corps '27; Senior French Society; Senior Spanish Society.

If you want a little lot,
Dave is just the very one;
He'll sell frontage by the foot
To you, to me, to everyone.

J. IRVING KAUFMANN, Jr.

JIMMIE

Forum Club; Athletic Association.

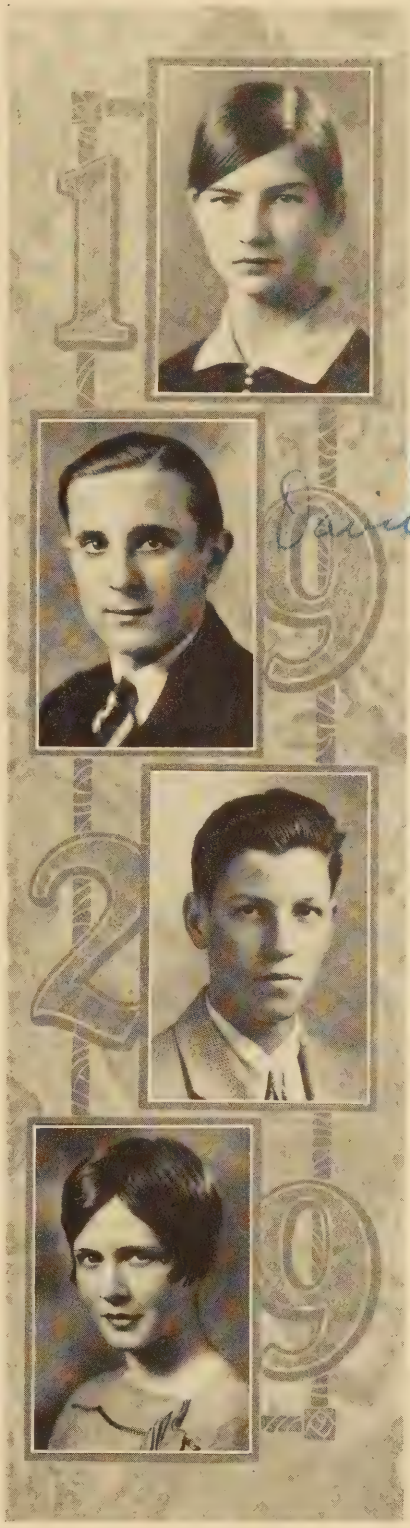
Known to all as Jimmy,
Smiling, smart, and clever.
As years go on and studies cease,
Will that name live forever?

ELIZABETH MADGE KELLY

KELLY

Athletic Association.

Her smile and sweet disposition have won many friends during school life, but ah! there is yet more in store for her.



MIRIAM WATT KEMP
WATT

Girl Reserves; Senior French Society; Athletic Association; Archery Club; "Record" Staff '28.

She has no troubles of her own, but should "trouble trouble you," just look for Watt; you'll find her the friend she has always been.

ATLANTA PEARL KENNEDY
PAT

Here is Pearl, a lovable girl
Ready at life a challenge to hurl.
If to succeed, quick wit, humor, and friends are the keys,
Treasures she'll win with utmost ease.

FLORENCE EILEEN KENNEDY
FLO

Forum Club.

Flo is looking forward to a business career. With her peppy smile and her "business sense" she ought to make good easily.

VIRGINIA LEE KENT

Girl Reserves.

Virginia is full of fun,
Except when there's work to be done.
She's always praised at the end of the session,
And we're sure she'll succeed in her chosen profession.

Be good!
"Miss Patricia"

EVELYN LANGHORNE KERSE
MUTT

"Record" Staff; Van Vort Debating Society; Basketball Team; Athletic Association; Dramatic Club; Girl Reserves.

Every day is an adventure for her and her life is full of rich experiences. She will become a great authoress.

GLENYCE LEE KIDD
GLEN

Reporter of Art Club; Athletic Association; "Record" Staff; Forum Club.

Are you blue? Are you lonely? See Glenyce. If she keeps up her good work as "mistress of all cures," her flock of friends will be multiplied many times.

FLORENCE KIMMEL
FLOSSIE

With her sunny disposition
And ready smile
And a strong ambition to succeed;
With a heart that will always go the second mile,
For friends she will ne'er be in need.

HELEN ROSALIE KINDERVATER

Hockey Team; Forum Club.

Sportsmanship she shows in the game
On the hockey field and in the gym.
To others Helen will teach the same,
For a physical-ed. coach she'll be with a vim.

FRANCES ESTELLE KING

Skipper Club; Forum Club; Athletic Association.

Members of the Class of '29 assemble to hear an opera singer, who proves to be none other than our Frances.

MURIEL ROBERTA KINKER

Athletic Association; Art Club.

Pleasant, frank, friendly and very fun-loving is Muriel. The future must hold much happiness for one so full of the joy of living.

JAMES EDGAR KIRK

JIMMY

Sergeant Cadet Corps; Athletic Association.

Jimmy has always toiled hard, and we expect to see him an eminent engineer. His punctuality is remarkable. Cheerfulness is a strong element of his character; it will carry him victoriously through life.

JOHN ROSS KIRKS

TOOTIE

Athletic Association.

When the gates of fame swing open, John will grasp the opportunity; he will never walk in the path of unworthiness.

ALVIN KIRSH, Jr.

AL

Athletic Association; Senior French Society; Senior Spanish Society; Forum Club.

Many at the bottom stop;
Very few press on to the top,
And of these few you will find
At the head of that small line
A man honored and unbesmirched.
Yes, you've guessed, it's Alvin Kirsh.

LEO A. KLOTZ

Athletic Association; Sergeant Cadet Corps.

The world of law is in for luck,
As it will surely see,
For Klotz with his brains, his tact and pluck
A lawyer is going to be.
He'll show them why and what, and how!
And even more than that, we trow.

MARY KATHERINE KNABE

KITTY

Kitty, who is very wise,
Surely to the heights will rise.

IRVIN NEILSON LAMB

IRKY

Irvin is bound straight for the sky.
If you wait a minute, I'll tell you why.
Soon he'll be flying from East to West.
He'll be an aviator—one of the best.

EDMUND MOSELEY LAPRADE

A loyal student, a brilliant mind,
A spirit of generosity that is hard to find;
And so we all wish luck to thee
As you go through college for your M. D.

KATHERINE B. LAUGHAN

Her calm and gracious demeanor
Denote what time will bring.
She yearns for what we all admire—
Realization of life's higher things.

ALTON ANDERSON LAWRENCE

Marshall Debating Society; Harwood Literary Society; Athletic Association; "Marshallite" Staff.

After observing Alton's actions and industry during his four years in high school, we are persuaded—yea, convinced—of one thing in particular, that he intends——to go to college!

NEITH LAWRENCE
SNOOKS

Athletic Association.

Here's a little girl with freckles,
And in our dreams we see
Her sitting high up in the court;
A stenographer is she.

LEIGHTON LAWS

Athletic Association; Junior Spanish Society.

In the dark, uncertain future we shall find him shining like an evening star.

SAM LAZARUS
DOC

Doc is a genial, amiable fellow who aspires to be a doctor. We believe that with his characteristic diligence of study and honesty he will attain professional prominence and become a valuable asset to his co-workers.

MARY LEE LEADBETTER
PEGGY

We all predict a bright future for our Peggy; she's destined to do great things some day.

MARY KATHERINE LEE
KITTY

Athletic Association; Art Club; Archery Club; Van Vort Debating Society; Manager Basketball Team; Girl Reserves.

Cute little ditties just bubble at her pen,
And we'll say when she's famous,
"I knew her way back—when."

DANIEL LEVY

Dan is so well versed in mathematics that he strikes us as being a great financier. We know that he will succeed, and we wish him the best of luck.

MILDRED LOUISE LEVY

MIL

Athletic Association; Van Vort Debating Society; Senior French Society.

Oh my! What a Latin shark!
To her every lesson's a lark.
Not far off or very late
She's going to be very, very great.

HUNTER FIELDING LEWIS, JR.

HONOLULU

Athletic Association.

Don't think your size is against you, Hunter. Remember Napoleon! Your genius for invention, your bigness of heart make us sure that there will be distinction in your life and a host of friends always.

ROBERT EDWARD LEWIS

Forum Club.

What the future holds for us no one knows,
But this is a prophecy that I disclose:
Because of his fine character and few mistakes
He'll be successful in all he undertakes.

ELIZABETH LICHTENSTEIN

LIZ

Junior Spanish Society; Junior French Society; Forum Club.

Beautiful brown eyes, a lovable disposition, and an irrepressible giggle—that is Liz. From the looks of things now, she is going to be a linguist—maybe an interpreter at the League of Nations.

BLANCHE WARRINER LIGHTLY

Bootsie Club; Dramatic Club; Basketball; Forum Club; President "JM's" Club; Girl Reserves.

The lines in the hand of personified dignity
Show capability and great benignity.
Not for long shall she await
To become the bride of a potentate.
Teas, receptions, and great estate—
These are indeed her destined fate.

EDGAR WILLIAM LIGON, Jr.

BILLIE

Athletic Association.

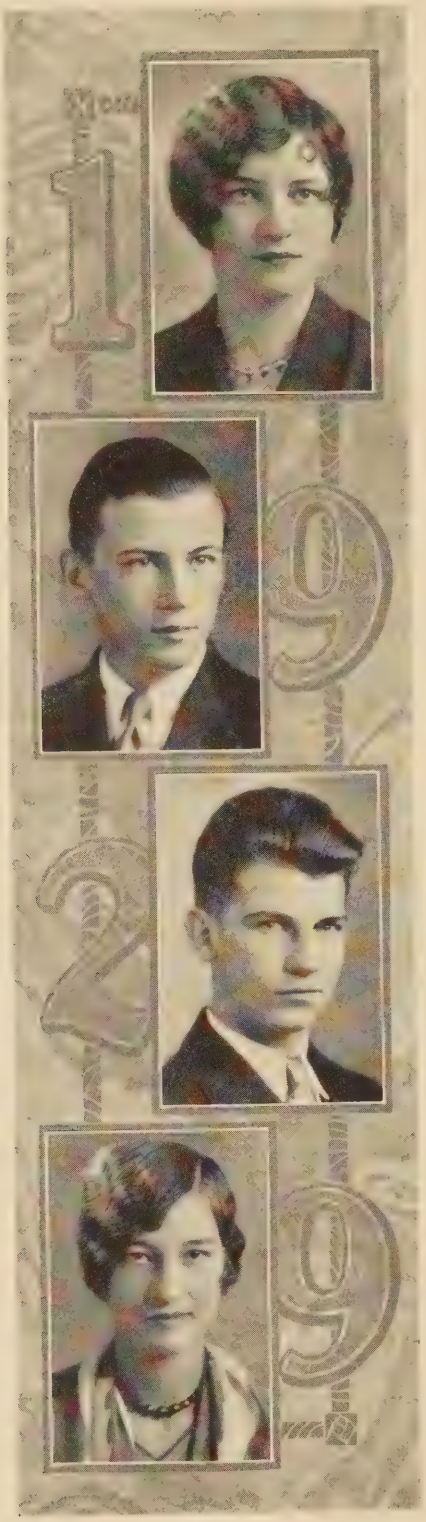
Billie is that mischievous little boy who loves to tease shy little girls. Some day he may be a great lawyer, for even now he will argue with any, and every, one.

CAROLINE LINGLE

CARIE

Athletic Association; Senior French Society; Interest Group Chairman Girls' Club.

And what will Carie become—a champion in the coming Olympics or a second Ponselle? For her charming personality, winning ways, and ready humor we shall hear great things of her in the future.



LILLIAN MAE LIPSCOMBE

BOOTS

A smiling countenance,
A jolly face.
Among her friends
She is the ace.
May her sweetness,
Love, and grace
Win for her a worthy place.

JAMES OUSBY LITCHFORD

SKINNY

His serious eyes and his dignified nose would make Jimmy become a banker—if his mouth did not turn up at one corner. His sense of humor then makes nothing less than the editorship of Life his appropriate life's destiny.

GERALD LITTIG

Associate Editor of "The Record."

Jerry is a tall, grave, dignified lad whom you instinctively like and trust. Such characteristics as his will bring him the success he deserves.

LILLIAN MAE LIVESAY

MAE

Athletic Association.

Here's to Mae, a Grand Opera Singer! Who knows? You never can tell. I predict that our dear high school friend will follow this career in the coming years.

MOLLIE LOBER

Van Vort Debating Society.

Studious, steady, but full of fun—
Of her qualities these are some.
Because of these traits she's sure to make good,
Just as we always said she would.

ARTHUR STANLEY LONG, Jr.

Athletic Association; Junior French Society; Cadet Corps; Harwood Literary Society.

His love of fun and peculiar wit
Will make him for society fit,
And, though these qualities aren't so rare,
Prosperity will be his in full share.

WILLIAM SHIRLEY LUCK

Athletic Association; Cadet Captain and Regimental Adjutant.

For his fun and music making, Shirley will continue to be first in the hearts of all his friends, especially those of the fair sex.

JAMES CARY LYLE

JIMMIE

Although he does not like to work, we believe that some day his ambition will get the better of him and he will become a doctor.

JOHN LINDSEY LYNN

Now here's one wight who's bound to win.
His name? He's hight John Lindsey Lynn.
One grandsire rebelled, the other was Yank;
'Tis they whom we must thank
For John, complete American,
Whom fixed fate names mighty statesman.

BERYL ROBINSON MADDOX

Athletic Association.

She goes along in her leisurely way
Acquiring more knowledge from day to day.
The farther she travels, the smarter she grows,
But just what she'll become nobody knows.

MARGARET GILL MAGEE

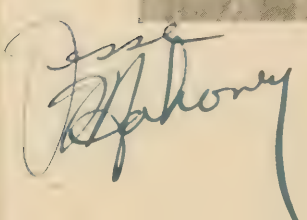
GEE

We expect to enter a school one day and see a quiet, willing, and cheerful teacher, for that's what Margaret wishes to be.

JESSE WARING MAHONEY

Idma Club; "Marshallite" Staff; Writers' Club; Football.

Time works many changes
And life's a funny thing,
But we know that you will be
Poet-laureate, or—king.



Guy Mallonée

GUY VERNON MALLONÉE
PLUTO

"Record" Staff; Marshall Debating Society; Class of Drama; Athletic Association; The Senate.

If he is as successful in business as he has been in making friends, we shall expect to see him in a few years listed among the ten men paying the highest income tax in the United States.

ANN ELIZABETH MANN
BETH

Loyal and true, a regular friend to all,
Whatever she does, she'll carry to the end;
Whether music or poetry we do not know,
But not idleness, we are sure.

VIRGINIA CRAWLEY MANSON GINGER

Athletic Association; Girl Reserves.

Virginia may not be good in all of her studies, but she excels in math: So do not be surprised when you see her standing behind the desk instructing an algebra class.

GORDON E. MARKS

Athletic Association; Orchestra; Chorus.

Rolls with his fingers,
Beats with his toes;
He shall have drumsticks
Wherever he goes.

Rachel Virginia

ROXANE BLANCHE MATHIEU

ROXY

President Pep Club; Vice-President Girl Reserves; Dramatic Club; Athletic Association; Harwood Literary Society; Senior French Society.

Sometimes she's English; sometimes she's French, but she's always charming. This delightful "petite enfant" is an unusual combination of brains and frivolity. We predict that she'll return from the Sorbonne, an accomplished pianist and an instructor of a romance language.

NELDA MAY

NELL

Athletic Association.

Who is as sweet as she is fair.
Her disposition will carry her far;
Going through life she'll play at par.

RUSSELL GREENWAY McALLISTER

BOOTLE-JACK

Business Manager "Marshallite"; Dramatic Club; Writers' Club; Chorus; Athletic Association; Harwood Literary Society.

He might become a business man,
A great one, too, he'd make
With Scotch ancestry, level head,
A mind that's wide-awake.

Perhaps he'll be a doctor,
But this we'll bet a dime:
He'll write all his prescriptions
In free verse or in rhyme.

FRANK JOHNSON McCARTHY, Jr.

President Class '29; Reporter Idma Club; Mascot Bootsie Club; Class of Drama, Reporter '28, Chairman '29; "Marshallite" Staff; "Record" Staff; Athletic Association; Sergeant Cadet Corps; Writers' Club; Harwood Literary Society; Editor-in-Chief of "The Monocle."

If he succeeds elsewhere as he has succeeded here, we hope the summer White House will be ready by the time he becomes President.

RICHARD McCRONE
SPARROW

Business Manager "Record"; Marshall Debating Society; Forum Club.

Richard was born for a journalistic career,
And we hope to see him before many a year
The editor of some great magazine
Or the business manager—the man behind the scene.

VIRGINIA LOUISE McFARLAND
MAC

This is about a girl called Mac,
Who concerning talents has nothing to lack.
Her ten we're sure she'll not bury
But will attain fame—and that in a hurry.

HARRILL McGINNIS
MAC

Athletic Association; Senior Spanish Society.

Here's to Mac, hale, hearty, and erudite. We hesitate to make forecasts as to his future, but, when he sets out to conquer new worlds, we aver that his will be the road to a well-deserved success.

JAKE WEAVER McLAIN, JR.
MAC

Lieutenant Cadet Corps; Honor Court; Athletic Association.

In Jake you'll find a ready friend,
Spreading joy without an end.
As the life of a crowd he plays his part,
And, though he's gay, he's good at heart.

ESSIE MAE MEADOR
DETTY

Skipper Club.

Mix a charming personality, strong character, true friendship and you have Essie Mae. She is always ready to be serious when necessary. In other words, she's a real sport who will achieve great things in life.

MILDRED RUTH MEYER

Athletic Association; Harwood Literary Society '28.

Mildred is good-natured and calm,
And her music is to the heart a balm.
Who knows but that on some future day
A pianist she will be,
Whose fame will spread both far and wide
O'er ocean, land, and sea?

MARGARET MILLER

President Chic Club; Dramatic Club.

I remember now; I met you in my dreams. But how can you be mortal, such airy-fairy, filmy stuff-of-dreams? The time will come when you shall give to men a book of wise old tales; then we'll understand.

MARY PERKINS MILLER
MOLLY

Great things we expect of Molly
In the home she'll some day keep.
There's a charm you will remember
Of the quiet streams and deep.

MARY WYNN MINTER

Van Vort Debating Society.

If those who grow famous are those who have grace,
Ambition, talents, and fairness of face,
In the Hall of Fame then you'd best make a place
For Mary.

VIOLET RAE MITCHELL
POLLY

Forum Club; Senior Spanish Society.

In music, speaking, singing,
In fact, any field of art
Violet's success is ringing
Because—well, look at her start,

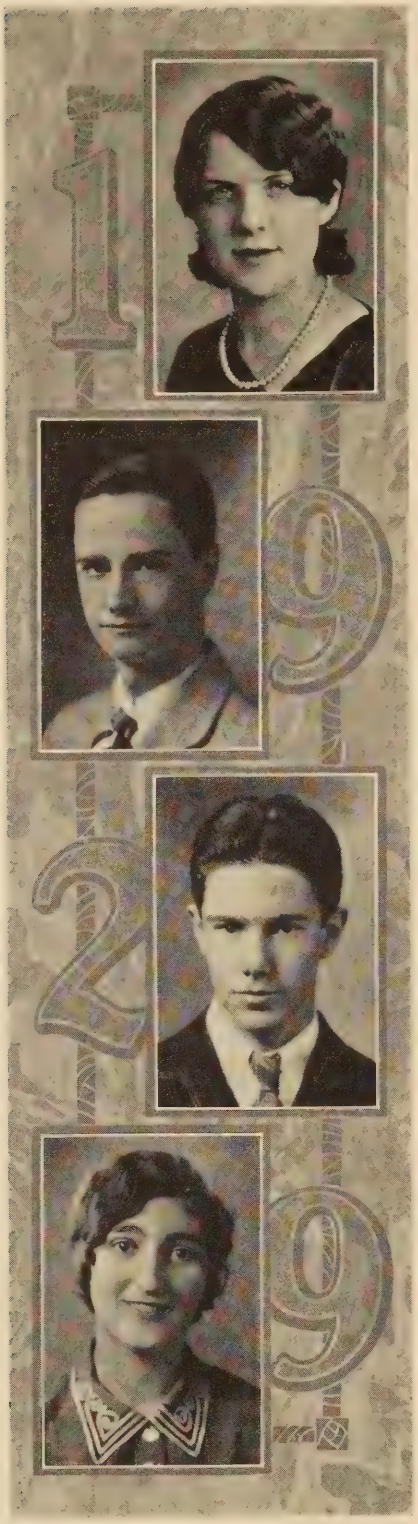
HARRIET RAE MONROE

Harriet possesses a firmness and nobility of character and always has a smile for everyone. Besides these characteristics she has a genial, optimistic disposition which will make her a perfect woman "to warn, to comfort, and command."

JAMES HENRY MONTGOMERY
STICKY

Hi-Y Club; Cadet Corps.

Let's make a summary of all the great things he wishes and hopes for:
A dizzy brain, a pair of wings,
A pretty girl, some high old flings,
And after that a busy town,
Where he may work and settle down.



VIRGINIA BLANTON MOORE
JINKS

Virginia has shed beams of love and good cheer upon a host of friends at John Marshall. Attractive personality and versatility are blended to make her a delightful companion. We expect great things of you, Virginia, especially in music.

HENRY MORGAN
HEN

A willing lad, a cheerful chap.
A high mark in life is his aim.
He plays with a will and works with a will,
And some day we'll hear of his fame.

JOHN MARSHALL MORTON, JR.
SHAGGY

Athletic Association.

If Shaggy ever grows to be
(As we hope he will some day)
An enterprising engineer
Who draws a lot of pay,
We'll say, "How good he used to be!
He always worked that way."

BERTHA EVELYN MORRISETTE
LYN

Art Club; Athletic Association.

What'll she be?
I'll make a guess:
With a blonde husband
She'll find happiness.

LULA MERIBAH MORRISSETT

Forum Club.

Lula, with her character, learning, and ease in accomplishing the thing she sets out to do, will win for herself a place of prominence and many friends.

ETHEL MOTTLEY

E

A true friend to all who have sought to be befriended; full of life and always looking on the bright side of it. We know, Ethel, that your future holds happiness in store and success in anything you undertake.

AUDREY ELIZABETH MURRAY

The parting of the ways
Will bring you better, fuller days,
Greater task than you have done,
Brighter triumphs to be won.

FLOYD CARLTON MYERS

PROFESSOR

Marshall Debating Society; Writers' Club.

Behold the politician of the Seniors. The thing in which Carlton excels is speaking. Who knows but that John Marshall has helped produce a great lawyer or Congressman?

ARTHUR CHRISTIAN NELSEN

BUDDY

Forum Club; Sergeant Cadet Corps.

Arthur's speeches in public speaking class have astounded both students and teacher. When one combines this with a pleasing personality and an agreeable manner, one is convinced that a long career as a politician awaits him.

LILY CAMILLA NELSEN

Athletic Association; Senior French Society.

Quiet, demure, with stately mien,
Loyal, working with a zest,
Full of fun and sunshine, too;
Striving ever for the best.
Camilla will happy be
For she will win friends ever
And, being successful, bind these friends
By ties that'll never sever.

FRANCES WHITEHURST NEWBURY

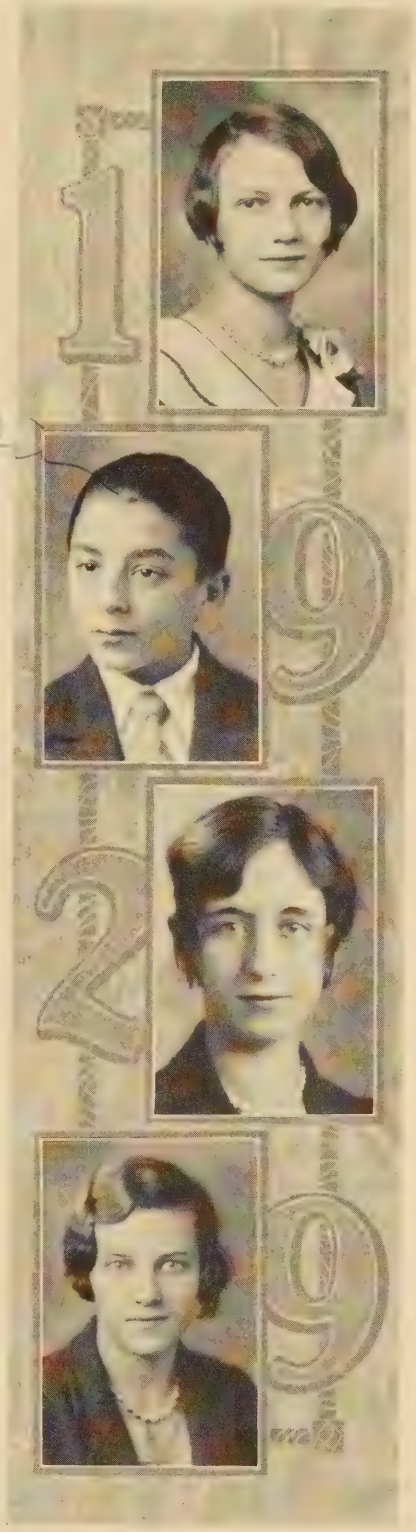
Athletic Association; Girl Reserves; Senior French Society.

A kind heart, trustworthy, gracious, loyal—that's Frances. We're sure she'll be popular and make a success in life.

MAUD HUNTER NEWBURY

Athletic Association; Secretary Girl Reserves.

Winsome little miss,
Popular everywhere;
Ever ready of speech;
Never a single care.
Though she's good at math.,
Teaching she'll never dare,
But, whatever she does,
Maud is sure to get there.



ANNA AUGUSTA NOLDE

Athletic Association; Orchestra.

Anna is not only pretty but also smart,
And her charming ways win everyone's heart.
Whatever she does will be a success;
We wish her health, wealth, and happiness.

NATHAN HARRY NORDIN

Athletic Association; Junior Relay Team '27; Senior Spanish Society.

In the first stage of his life, faithful to education,
He has gained consistently; and hence,
If he works as hard after his graduation,
He will no doubt achieve success, a great recompense.

ELLA VIRGINIA NORTON

Athletic Association; Forum Club.

She doesn't know what she wants to be,
But we know she'll be a success
No matter what she happens to be.

HALLIE INEZ NUCKOLS

SNOOKS

Athletic Association.

I-ntelligent
N-atural
E-nergetic
Z-ealous

Inez possesses all of these qualities; we predict for her a great future.

JAMES ELDWOOD NUNNALLY
JIMMY

Athletic Association; Harwood Literary Society.

Eldwood is heading straight for success.
His aim one who knows him can easily guess:
A civil engineer, and one of the best.
I'm sure that he will make good in his quest.

HAROLD NUNNAMAKER
NUNNY

Forum Club; Harwood Literary Society; Spanish Society; Captain Company "D."

He came to old John Marshall
And made so many friends
That when he no longer graces its halls
But seeks for higher ends,
He's sure to land on a street like "Wall"
If success is made like friends.

ELSIE HAYWOOD ORROCK
HALF-PINT

Athletic Association; Senior French Society.

In the clear blue eyes of this student ambition beams. You see her walk through the halls with a bright smile for all. Who says she won't succeed?

MARGARET OWENS

Athletic Association.

She has the looks; she has the brains.
What more could one need?
Into whatever field she strays
She's certain to succeed.

EMORY SCOTT PARKER
SCOTTY

Cadet Corps; Rifle Team; Athletic Association.

Emory has high ambitions to be a spectacular aviator and to direct the operations of an intercontinental airway corporation. He is now looking forward to making the first non-stop flight to Australia.

LUCILE TALLEY PARRISH
CEAL

Athletic Association.

Lucile has gone her way as our comrade through her glorious school years. She has let her fancies run straight through the days in which she has tried to create a path which will lead to higher fame.

ESTHER MARION PATRAM
SHORTY

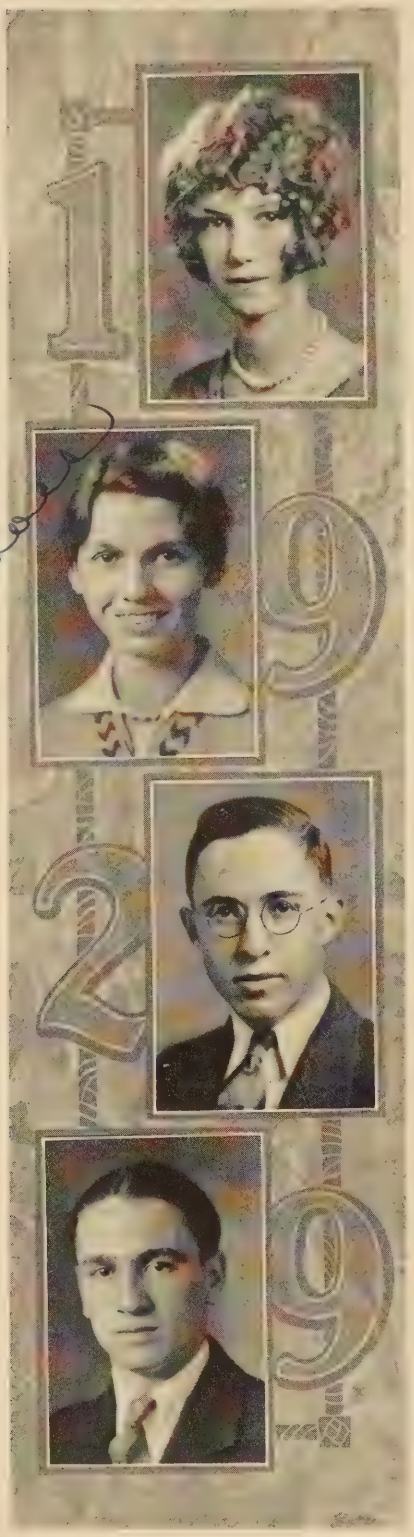
Forum Club; Athletic Association.

Esther Patram is her name;
You'll find it in the Hall of Fame.
She's studied lessons by the score,
But now for her, school days are o'er.
We hope in life she will suceed
And find great happiness indeed.

WILSON PICKRELL PATTESON
PAT

Vice-President Senior Spanish Society; Athletic Association; Basketball Squad '29.

We value his friendship and his talents; we shall not be surprised if he turns out to be a poet one of these days.



ALICE ELIZABETH PAUL

Somebody's stenographer I see, with nimble fingers and a smile on her face. With her pleasing personality she works her way through. Looking still farther into the future, we see her as the "big boss" with others under her supervision.

GRACE VIRGINIA PEATROSS

PETE

Treasurer Pep Club; Dramatic Club; Freshman Reporter; Sophomore Reporter; Hockey Team '28; Girl Reserves; Forum Club; "Monocle" Staff.

Grace possesses that intangible quality—personality. Endowed with a charming social ease at all times and an unique originality, she will succeed in any line of life-work that she undertakes.

JOSEPH ROSS PERKINS

PERK

Athletic Association.

Joe, the radio man,
Can repair any set from here to Japan.
As for the future, we have no doubt
That as a radio magnate he'll be quite a knock-out.

BENNIE PERLIN

HALF-PINT

Forum Club; Athletic Association.

Ben Perlin — gentleman on every occasion, courteous, well poised, and adaptable. He will, in our opinion, attain great things.

WILLIAM HAMILTON PETTIGREW
HAM

First Sergeant Cadet Corps; Track; Athletic Association.

When Ham I first saw,
He was introduced as a track star.
In hurdles and relays he's equally fast;
In nothing does he come in last.
In the Olympics that are to come
A star we expect him to become.

ELIZABETH CORNELISON PHILIPS
BETTY

Chic Club; Senior French Society; Athletic Association.

Betty—fascinating, bright, pretty—is everybody's friend. As she has proved herself at J. M., she'll prove herself in the school of life, and we are sure we'll be able to say, "We love her now as we loved her then."

HELEN LORRAINE PHILLIPS

Athletic Association.

A John Marshall graduate of 1929
Some day will be a pianist.
Helen Phillips, our classmate dear,
Will make us proud and ready to cheer.
Her name will be broadcast far and wide,
And then John Marshall will swell with pride.

HENRY HARRISON PHILLIPS, JR.
BUDDY

Athletic Association; Cadet Corps.

A public accountant Henry wants to be;
He's going to work toward that at the university.
He'll be successful—that we know—
With his neat little "figgers" all in a row.

KATHERINE DAVIS PHILLIPS
KITTY

Spanish Society; Athletic Association.

Irresistible personality,
Winning for her many friends.
The future holds for her, we're sure,
Success and love that will endure.

HENRY GARLAND PITTS
MALLET

Athletic Association.

With such a personality and ambition Garland is sure to win for himself many friends and prove a great success in anything he attempts to do.

RUTH BLANTON PLUNKETT
PLUNK

Athletic Association; Girl Reserves; Harwood Literary Society.

Friends, friends, wherever she goes.
She's friendly and sweet from her head to her toes.
And brains she has, too; now, what will she be?
It's hard to tell, for so versatile is she.

FRANK GEORGE POOLE
DINKS

Forum Club; Athletic Association.

I cannot say just what he'll be,
Perhaps an artist or poet.
But, whatsoever it is that he'll be,
The whole wide world will know it.

MARTHA FLEMING PORTER

Athletic Association.

Here's Martha Porter, the great movie fan.
She sees all the movies as fast as she can.
In Hollywood soon she will make her debut,
And then break the heart of poor me and poor you.

EMILY SALE PRIBBLE

Vice-President Bootsie Club; Harwood Literary Society; Athletic Association.

Here's to Sale, a fun-loving "Bootsie"
Whose smile one can't help but know.
She's peppy, she's smart, and she'll surely make her mark;
And—gosh, we don't want her to go.

SHIRLEY CHRISTINE PROBST

Athletic Association.

Have you ever heard Shirley's piano concerts over the radio? Why, you'd think it was Paderewski himself! She's already making a name for herself; a few years more and we'll be shining in her reflected glory.

ROSE ERCELL PRYDE

A maiden there is yclept Pryde,
A lassie in truth aptly made.
Proud can we be in viewing her worth;
Her future is charged with courage and mirth.
A "Pryde" of John Marshall is she.

ELEANOR ELIZABETH PUCKETT

Athletic Association.

A sincere friend, good and true,
Very domestic and studious, too;
But of all the things which she might be,
A music teacher is what I see.

LUCILLE AGNES PUETTE

Athletic Association; Girl Reserves.

Lucille, talented in music and athletics, is a hundred per cent pal and comrade. She smiles herself through the lives of others with a heart of pure gold. Surely the years will bring untold treasures and blessings to one such as she.

LYDIA FANNIE RAGONE

Black eyes peeping from under blacker hair—
That's Lydia, with personality rare,
Character fine, and such a winning way.
She'll make a fine teacher,
That's what we all say.

MARY ELOISE RATCLIFFE

First we see a small blonde girl. Next we see a happy smile; then we know that it is Eloise. With her pleasing personality and ever-ready-to-help disposition she is sure to find happiness in life.

HELEN LEA RECTOR
GEE GEE

Junior Spanish Society.

Ever cheerful and always gay,
Helen will make good some day.
And then we'll know that we were right
When we predicted for her a future bright.

WILLIAM NOWLIN REVELEY NEZZY

Whichever path he follows
To lead him to success,
Guided by his own ideas,
We know he'll take the best.

MARIAN ISABEL REYNOLDS
IZZY

We bid farewell to our Marshallite, Izzy. Her smiling countenance and vivid personality have attracted friends, and we predict that she will be successful in whatever she undertakes, largely because of her winning ways.

MILTON C. RICHARDS
SUNSHINE

Athletic Association.

As his nickname implies, he spreads sunshine through the gloomiest days. As a future weather man he will never predict rain.

MARY COOPER RILEY

Girls' Club; Athletic Association.

Her sweet, smiling face reflects only the good and beautiful in all she sees and hears. She has the aesthetic temperament of an artist, the sympathetic heart of a nurse, and the conscientious spirit of a private secretary. She will achieve great success.

HARRIET ELOISE ROBERSON

ELLA

Athletic Association.

Look in those eyes.
There the light of genius lies;
Some day in the Hall of Fame,
As a poet, you'll find her name.

AARON ROBERTS

RED

Athletic Association; Writers' Club; Marshall Debating Society.

With a colossal brain,
With a bit of ingenuity,
He will be known as a man
Who will command
The field of knowledge, science, and
Philosophy in the realm of futurity.

MARGARET STUART ROBERTS

MAG

Athletic Association; Girls' Club; Archery Club.

She may not have wisdom or riches untold,
And fortune may never great treasures unfold;
But if sunshine or shadow her pathway attends,
She'll ever be known as the truest of friends.

GRACE LOUISE ROBINS
WEE WEE

Athletic Association; It Club.

I know in the past you studied really hard
To qualify your future for some good job.
You'll profit by the laurels you won;
When you leave old John Marshall,
You'll command a good sum.

DOROTHY ELIZABETH ROBINSON
WINNIE

Forum Club.

The work that she'll do in future life
I cannot tell just yet,
But one thing I assure you now:
It'll be something different—you can bet.

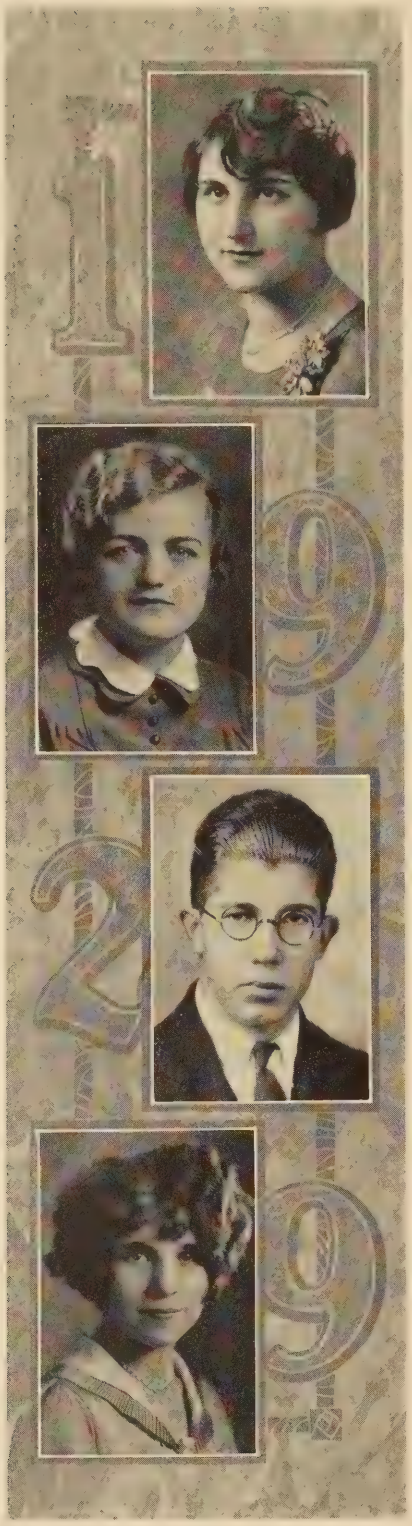
NATHAN ROBINSON
DUBIE

Ambition, faith, talent, desire.
With these assets he will as an artist aspire.
Some day with pride we will state,
"I knew him when he was just called 'Nate'."

OLIN ADAIR ROGERS

President Saint Club; Captain Company "E"; Treasurer of Honor Court; Captains' Club; Spanish Society; Harwood Literary Society; Athletic Association.

This "Dr. Jekyl and Mr. Hyde" is a rare delight to his friends and a mystery to the public —possessing wit, playfulness, dignity, and dependability. After four years at Hampden-Sydney, Olin will be a successful business man.



LIBBY WILMA ROMM

Upward and upward she will surely fly,
And rest high in the hearts of men.
The paths of glory before her will lie,
And to everyone cheer she will lend.

ALICE ELIZABETH ROONEY

Athletic Association; Harwood Literary Society; Girl Reserves.

Here's wishing success and happiness for you.
May your joys be many and your troubles few.
You will always win in the game of life,
When not by chance, by struggle or strife.

NOEL WILLIAM ROSBACH

HORSIE

Athletic Association.

In the painters' hall of fame
At some future day
You'll come across a name
That will cause you to say,
"Why, Noel Rosbach!"

MARY DORIS ROSE

DOT

Home Economics Club; Harwood Literary Society; Athletic Association.

A school-girl pal, so dear and sweet,
Generous, true, and a friend complete;
In many ways she displays great art,
And lucky is the man who will capture her heart.

ALEXANDER ROSSITER

(Entered J. M. H. S. September, '28.)

Editor of the "Record"; Managing Editor of the "Monocle"; Writers' Club.

Clean-cut, talented high school boy,
I see you
Strangely sarcastic, friend to all,
Wise and true.
Earnestness, perseverance some day
Will win your due.
I see a journalist smiling successfully,
And he is you.

HERMAN HARRY ROTHENBERG

HANK

Basketball '28, '29; Athletic Association.

Hank is cut out to be a leader. Whatever he's in, he'll be at the head of it, and a good "head" he'll make, too.

JOE ROTHENBERG

ROTH

Football '28, '29; Basketball '27, '28, '29.

The ladder of success
Is crowded like the rest (at the foot),
But Joe will never stop
Until he's reached the top,
Where there's plenty of room for the best.

EMILY LOUISE ROYE

LOU

Dramatic Club; Girl Reserves; Forum Club; Junior French Society; Van Vort Debating Society.

With such a pleasing personality, such ready wit, and such ability in everything, what will Louise do when she has left school life behind for life's school? We may be sure that she'll succeed in everything.

HERBERT RUDLIN

SONNEY

Cadet Corps; Writers' Club; Reporter Marshall Debating Society; "Record" Staff; "Monocle" Staff; Athletic Association.

A pencil pressed within his hand,
A frown upon his brow,
And if perseverance counts a lot,
Then 'tis easily seen
That he really does mean
To pass as a scribe of the land.

KATHARINE GREENWAY RUSSELL

KITTY

Chic Club; Athletic Association.

A little white-haired lady sits surrounded by her adoring grandchildren. By her rose-petaled face and gentle ways we recognize our "Kitts" of long ago.

MARY ELLA RUSSELL

Duckie Club; Athletic Association.

Along many lines Ella is a shark;
At piano she will surely make her mark.
If you fail to meet her, you will miss a rare treat,
For her loving disposition can't easily be beat.

MARGARET E. RUTHERFORD

Van Vort Debating Society; Writers' Club; Skipper Club; "Annual" Staff; Athletic Association.

Margaret's abilities and aspirations will carry her back to old J. M. as head of the English department. We need not fear of losing her, for the influence of teachers lives in the lives of many.

HELEN BURROUGHS RYCE

Athletic Association.

Helen gets everything out of life it has to offer. We are sure the future has something good in store for her.

ROSALEE RYE

RYE

Athletic Association; Girl Reserves; Senior Spanish Society; Harwood Literary Society.

Here's wishing you the best o' luck, Rosalee, and may you have much happiness and success in your business career.

JAMES RUCKER RYLAND

Athletic Association; Color Sergeant Cadet Corps.

Good natured, full of life is Rucker; a likable chap is he.
He would succeed in his life's occupation at anything he wished to be:
A doctor, a lawyer, a merchant, a seer—
But he's chosen, he says, to be an engineer.

MOSES SACHS

MOE

Cadet Corps; Forum Club; Senior French Society; Senior Spanish Society.

Moses is some history shark;
He knows all that's happened since Noah built his ark.
One of these days he'll a great book write,
One that'll give all history teachers a fright.

STEPHEN ROGERS SAMMIS

DEACON

Athletic Association; "Marshallite" Staff.

If you could see him debating
For Edgar Allan Poe,
You'd think he was a warrior
Contending with some foe;
And in the future—well,
Time will tell,
But whate'er he does
He'll do it well.

MARTHA LORRAINE SANDERS

Pep Club; President Girls' Club; Secretary Junior Class; Athletic Association; Basketball Squad.

Some gain fame by brains and grace;
Others by fairness of face,
But when one has these charms all three,
Then who can say what her fame will be?

SAMUEL ROUNTREE SANDERS

SAM

Marshall Debating Society; Forum Club; Athletic Association; Cadet Corps.

There's something in Sam's eyes
Which says that he will rise
To heights beyond an ordinary sphere,
So we may as well prepare
To see him risk and dare
And reach the top, whatever his career.

JULIAN SANDERSON

Athletic Association.

Julian always makes the best of his opportunities. Doing this, he's "Bound to Win."

MARTHA SATTERFIELD

Athletic Association.

Will she of the stage be a star
Or of love romances be author?
Oh, no, but something better by far
We predict for her—our Martha.

WILLIAM SCHER
WILLIE

Marshall Debating Society; Athletic Association.

Look him over, business men, and remember that some day his bank account will far exceed his most optimistic dreams.

MARIE WILHELMINA SCHMIDT
MONKEY

Athletic Association; Girl Reserves; French Society.

You'd never guess as you look at Marie
What an awful thing she wants to be—
A bacteriologist!

WILLIAM CHARLES SCHMIDT
WILLIE

Senior Spanish Society; Cadet Corps.

In mechanics he will be
What legend is to story,
What Plato was to philosophy,
What Caesar is in glory.

LUCILLE KERR SCHMITZ
LOU

Basketball Squad.

Schmitz plays on the John Marshall basketball team
And is certainly a good "guard" it seems;
In every game she has always done her best.
Here's hoping she'll always succeed as she did in J. M. H. S.

SOL LOUIS SCHRIEBERG
SOLLY

Cadet Corps; Athletic Association; Marshall Debating Society.

Sol is always ready to challenge a task, be it physical or mental; we feel certain that there is some big enterprise which will be challenged and conquered by his never-say-die spirit.

ELSIE MAY SEARGEANT
CORPORAL

Oh! Margy Club.

A dancer, a singer,
A heart wringer,
A poet, a teacher,
An old-time preacher—
Which will Elsie be?

She'll be careful and gay,
Ever having her way,
Smiling face, flying hair,
Swinging pace, and heart that's fair.
That's what Elsie'll be.

KATHERINE LOUISE SEAY
SEE SAW

Chatterbox; Athletic Association; Dramatic Club.

Louise, with her sparkling eyes,
Is to everyone a gay surprise.
Her fascinating ways we must confess
Have brought us all much happiness.
Who among you would ever say
That she won't succeed in every way?

HELEN KENDALL SELDEN
DIZZY

It Club; Athletic Association; Girl Reserves; Forum Club.

Here she comes, always gay,
Always laughing and ready to play;
And when she gets old and gray,
Those smiles will drive all the wrinkles away.

RUTH CHRISTINE SELECMAN

Athletic Association; French Society.

To strangers Ruth may appear shy and reserved, but to us who know her she is the dearest, most lovable of friends; and we predict for her a brilliant future in the intellectual as well as the musical world.

NAOMI GOLDIE SHAROVE

Athletic Association; Harwood Literary Society.

Goldie bargains with life, and these are the things she buys: courage, zeal, truth, and ambition.

Put them all together,
A prophecy in prose.
Look at them still closer.
Why, it's happiness she chose.

VIRGINIA ANNE SHARP
GIN

Athletic Association; Girl Reserves; Orchestra; Senior French Society.

Music comes from her finger-tips;
A smile is on her face.
At the top of the ladder in the esteem of the world
Is reserved for her a place.

Goldie Sharove

THOMAS PETTUS SHELBURNE, JR.

T. P.

If we may prophesy what a boy will do by what he has done, then T. P.'s life will be steady, full of good works, and crowned with success at last.

BERTHA ELEANOR SHELTON

Athletic Association; Forum Club.

With wit, fun, and friendliness combined, Eleanor's successful future is assured. One of the most likable girls at John Marshall shall certainly find much in life awaiting her.

ELLA ROBINS SHEPHERD

CINDERS

Athletic Association; Junior Spanish Society; Harwood Literary Society.

A precious pal (by one who knows), an enthusiastic, if sketchy, student, a marvelous friend! With your technical work, show the world what you can do, Ella!

ELIZABETH LUCILLE SHEPPARD

Athletic Association; Girl Reserves; Senior Spanish Society.

Elizabeth is so cheerful and unselfish that we think she is going to be, as she is now, one of those persons to whom other people tell their troubles. She'd be fine at the head of a charity organization.

MARGIE ANN SHEPPE

Senior French Society.

Margie can work as well as play;
In shorthand she leads by a long, long way.
A business career for her I see,
And she'll make good—yes, siree.

MARY CLAREINE SHEPPE

LITTLE SHEP

Dramatic Club.

Capable, willing, and ready to do—
Of girls like Clareine there are very few.
We hope her path will be strewn with success.
A singer she'll make—one of the best.

FRED SHERMAN

FREDDIE

Athletic Association; Athletic Editor "Record."

"Reading maketh a full man, conference a noble man, and writing an exact man," said Bacon. Fred is one who combines all three attributes, and by virtue of them he will become great in life.

GEORGE ANDREW SHETTER

Spanish Society; Athletic Association.

When he grins, you grin with him;
When he laughs, you laugh with him.
You can't help liking our friend,
For he has ambition that's sure to win.
That's our smiling George.

VERNON ALLAN SHURM

Athletic Association.

These clear-cut features indicate a student and bespeak a remarkable future. Though modest and retiring by nature, he possesses a mental aggressiveness which assures him unlimited possibilities in the field of electrical engineering, the science of his choosing.

CHARLES LOUIS SIEGEL

Idma Club; Football Squad '28; Basketball '29; Lieutenant Cadet Corps; Honor Court.

"He came, he saw, he conquered."
This fits him to the letter.
He goes, and to us it has occurred
That of Marshallites there is no better.
Surely his life has in store
Success and fame and everything more.

ESTHER FANNIE SILVERSTEIN

Van Vort Debating Society; Senior French Society.

What shall I say that you'll be?
Stenographer, teacher, or clerk?
It doesn't matter what you do;
You're bound to succeed in your work.

HARRY THOMPSON SIMPSON

SIMPO

Athletic Association; Cadet Corps.

"Fire burn and cauldron bubble."
All we see is favorable:
Courage and smiles and brains galore,
Success and happiness in store
For one who hurries and will not tarry.
Put all together and we have Harry.

KATIE GLADYS SINGLETON

GIGGLES

Forum Club.

She's a friend to everyone;
She never slights a soul.
Sometime she'll be among those
Standing brave and bold
High upon the mountain of success.

HELEN BROOKS SKIPWITH

Forum Club; Duckie Club; Girl Reserves; "Record" Staff.

Giggling bunch of mischief;
A bunch of dark brown curl.
You're dame fortune's witness
That it's good to be a girl.
Will her pupils love her?
What a teacher she will be!
Because it's her ambition
To be here longer than we.

HELEN TEMPLE SMITH

JACK

Athletic Association.

Helen finds her way into the heart of everyone she meets because of her charming personality and winsome smile. These will go far towards reaching the hearts of the people whom she anticipates serving as a medical missionary.

OTIS DAVID SMITH

Athletic Association; Spanish Society; Corporal Cadet Corps.

A corporal gay,
A good display
From dear old Company "C,"
And if I may
I'd like to say
A general he will be.

ROBERT HENNING SNELLINGS, JR.

Athletic Association.

He is one who enjoys active sports and other contests. Also he has an appreciation of beauty which will enable him to get a great deal out of life.

THOMAS DOSWELL SOLES

TOMMY

Forum Club; Athletic Association.

Tommy is always cheeful, nearly always happy, never turning his back on a good time. He is headed for the goal of success through his originality and frankness; he puts his heart and soul into everything he attempts.

MARJORIE FRANCES SPARKS

SPARKY

Athletic Association.

Just a word for a Marshallite dear,
A girl very brilliant and full of good cheer,
Who, one of these days, will be a chemist great—
A day old J. M. will be proud to celebrate.

ANNA IRENE SPIERS

RENE

President Art Club; Athletic Association; Forum Club; French Society.

"Who brings sunshine into the life of another has sunshine in his own." That's our Rene. If she continues to be so optimistic, no dark clouds will dare come near her for fear of being turned inside out.

WALLACE EDWIN STANLEY

Athletic Association.

He'll be a public speaker.
We're really sure of it now;
Or perhaps he'll be a teacher
And try to teach us how.

ALBERTA LEOLA STEVENS

ALLIE

Athletic Association; Senior French Society.

Allie is so fond of children that she may decide to be a kindergarten teacher. We wish her the best of luck, and we know that with her sweet and kind disposition she will succeed.

LORRAINE FILLMORE STIER

Athletic Association; Harwood Literary Society; Senior Spanish Society.

Although Lorraine is rather shy,
She'll overcome that by and by;
A secretary then she'll be
To someone in authority.
From Richmond she perhaps will roam
And in New York will make her home.

LIDA DUKE STOKES

Basketball '28, '29; Girl Reserves; Pep Club; Athletic Association; Manager Hockey Team.

Lida always will get what she wants;
She will overcome all of her foes.
She may give you a fit, but she never will quit.
She's a sticker wherever she goes.

NANCY WILLSON STONE

Athletic Association.

The world is going to make a place for such a character as Nancy—efficient, capable, successful; in fact everything to be desired is she. Everything she attempts will spell success.

ARCHIE STRAUS

ARCHIBALD

Athletic Association; Cadet Corps.

Archie, who looks so very wise,
In math. and science does excel;
And some day, not to our surprise,
In this line of work will do very well.

CLIFFORD ALLEN STRAUS

CLIFF

Athletic Association; Orchestra.

Fortune and fame in a foreign land
Clifford has won by the work of his hand;
Planning high bridges throughout the day,
Fluting at evening to drive care away.

HANNAH BONNER SUSMAN

Harwood Literary Society; French and Spanish Societies; Athletic Association.

Hannah's ambition is to travel, to improve her mind and bring to the surface the impressions of "school days."

ESTHER CATHERINE TATE

TATE

Basketball Squad.

Tate certainly has vigor, skill, and vim,
And she displays it at J. M. gym;
What she'll be is really hard to say,
But likely she'll be a basketball coach, some day.

VIRGINIA GARNETTE TATE

The gods pondered, shaking their hoary heads; they contemplated smilingly: "Her understanding should make many true friends; her gladness absorb the sadness of others; her sincerity conquer." Then they gave us the perplexing loving problem—Garnette.

ANNIE DECKER TAYLOR

Calm and mild-eyed, Annie has moved placidly along unhurried, unworried thru John Marshall. She's neither talkative nor quiet, just a nice blend of characteristics. Annie hasn't decided on her life's vocation, but we know she will be a success.

HAZEL ANN TAYLOR

Athletic Association; Girl Reserves.

So tiny and petite,
Cute and awful sweet!
Will she be so small
She won't be seen at all,
Or grow to a great height?
Will she? Well, she might!

HENRY TAYLOR

HEAD

Football '26, '27, '28, Captain '28; Baseball; Track; Captain Company "B"; Athletic Association.

Henry is an athlete, one of these triple threats,
Popular with everyone, especially with cadets.
He'll have a happy future, for he's on happiness bent,
And if work ever hurts him, 'twill be by accident.

MILDRED A. TAYLOR

MIL

Mildred aspires to be a stenographer. We know her determination and ability, and we feel confident that she'll have no trouble commanding a high salary and having a life lease on her job—if she wants it.

FRANCES MARIE TEUPEL

STOOPIE

Athletic Association; Harwod Literary Society.

Stoopie is happy, jolly, contented, and free. Every vacation or holiday finds her seeing the world. With these qualities and her great ambition, we see her as a "Companion" to some lonely soul who also has the wanderlust.

MARY PHYLLIS THOMAS

Girl Reserves; Athletic Association; Senior French Society.

She dreams of art on the screen and her fair face
Smiling out at her friends sitting there,
Of beautiful gowns and of travel,
Of beauty and love everywhere.

WILMER LYNN THOMAS
ROSIE

Hi-Y Club; Cadet Corps.

Lynn doesn't feel the call of the sky
With the aviator or Adventist.
He's chosen his path and cast his die;
He wants to be a dentist.

WILLIAM ERNEST THOMPSON, Jr.
BUTTERCUP

Marshall Debating Society; Forum Club; Athletic Association; Cadet Corps; Senior Spanish Society.

In the future, as we pass on life's way,
We know William's success will all things sway.
His character, ability, and ready wit
Convince us, surely, that he has "IT."

ROSEMARY BEATRICE THRAVES
ROSIE

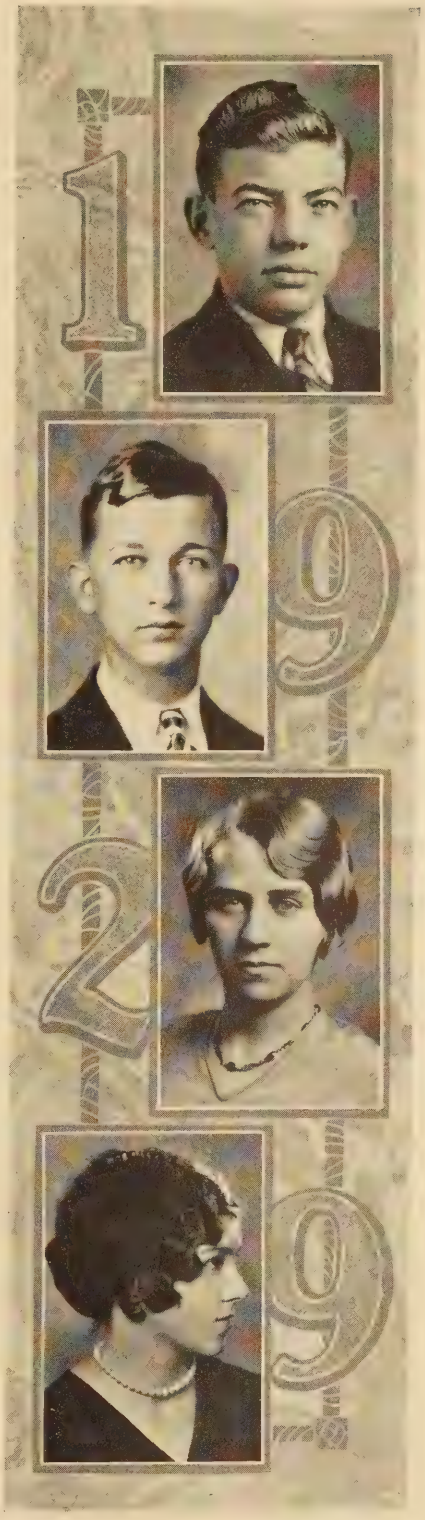
Girl Reserves; Athletic Association; Junior Spanish Society; Forum Club.

"Better be small and cast a shining light than large and cast a shadow." So it is with Rosemary. If she keeps casting beams of light across everyone's way, we are sure she'll reap great rewards.

KATHERYN AMELIA THURSTON

Athletic Association.

Vivacious, buoyant, full of fun,
She's a friend you'll be proud to have won.
Her ability in music and the warmth of her smile
Will do a lot towards helping her
Achieve a place worthwhile.



MATTIE BELLE TIMBERLAKE
TIMMY

Secretary-Reporter It Club; Harwood Literary Society; Athletic Association.

So friendly is our Timmy,
So full of charm and grace
That it isn't hard for us to see
She'll be a winner in life's race.

BENJAMIN SPENCER TINDER
MONK

Cadet Corps.

This boy by his manners and by his smiling face
Shows all his fellow students he will certainly win life's race.
In wisdom and on knowledge he's very strong indeed.
"Keep on in all these habits and surely you'll succeed."

ROSE ALICE TODD
FRECKLES

Imp Club; Treasurer Senior Class; Sponsor Company "C" '28.

Here's an Imp who's popular;
Here's an Imp who's true;
So here's Alice, who'll surely succeed
In whatever she may do.

KATHERINE TORBECK
KITTY

In future years we expect to find Kitty sitting with the scholarly men and women of the world, seeking new fields to conquer.

CHARLES FRANKLIN TRANT
CHAS.

If you will note his pocketbook,
And the jingling change you'll hear,
You'll quickly think that some day
He'll be a financier.

JOHN SHEPPARD TREVVETT

What will he do when he graduates?
He doesn't know, so he states;
But, whatever it is, we know he'll be,
As he is now, just full of glee.

HELEN BELLE TRIBBLE

Her peppy smile,
Her winsome grace
Will win for Helen an envied place.
In many thing she'll display great art,
In which J. M. gave her a start.

ELIZA LOUISE TUCK
DEASEY

Secretary Van Vort Debating Society; Junior French Society; Harwood Literary Society.

"This I beheld or dreamed it in a dream" . . . In a well-equipped school room was Louise Tuck, one of the outstanding figures in the teaching profession. Well qualified and attractive, what could the years have brought her but success?

WINNIFRED BASS TUCK
WINNIE

Junior French Society; Senior Spanish Society; Harwood Literary Society.

Her best she has done in the past; and with steadfastness of purpose, her greatest desire is to do still more for mankind in the future.

MARY LOUISE TYLER
MURR-R-R

Athletic Association; Girl Reserves.

Mary says she's going to be a teacher, but we have our doubts, especially since she has so much musical ability. We know she will succeed in whatever she decides to do, with her talent, her straightforwardness, and her wonderful disposition.

STANLEY PERSINGER TYLER
DILLY

"Record" Staff; Senior French Society; Girl Reserves; Athletic Association; Bootsie Club.

She's first in her class,
And in all things is game
And ready on the job.
Just watch her reach fame.

DAHLIA INEZ UPCHURCH
PEGGY

Athletic Association.

Some day, some time, some place
Success will come to Dahlia.

Best wishes,
Willa

WILLA LOUISE UPCHURCH

Associate Editor "Record"; President Writers' Club; President Duckies; Reporter Dramatic Club; Girl Reserves; Athletic Association; Harwood Literary Society; "Monocle" Staff.

A girl with beauty's well known
In her own social set;
A girl with personality's remembered
By those that she has met;
A girl with talent is famous
For her verses, rhymed and free;
But Willa will be more than famous
Because she has all three.

MARGARET VIRGINIA VASS

Duckie Club.

Your heart-line with your head-line breaks
And all of your ambition takes;
Yet pause, oh, yes, you may be glad,
Since now you've been a little sad;
For He high in ambition will rate,
And will make of you a singer great.

MAURICE HAMILTON VAUGHAN

MIKE

We shall not forget Mike soon. He will be as successful in life as he has been in making friends at John Marshall.

HENRY VRANIAN

GERANIUM

Forum Club; Athletic Association; Cadet Band.

He wears a smile in the morning,
And he wears a smile at night.
And it is with this selfsame smile
That he will make the world seem bright.

Sincerely yours
Henry

MARGARET WILSON WADE

Chorus; Orchestra.

Always happy, always care-free
Is this girl whose face you see;
Loving, faithful, true, and kind
She will be till the end of time.
She says she will a teacher be,
But we shall have to wait and see.

ANNA VIRGINIA WAGNER

GINA

I can see in my crystal sphere that Virginia will make her debut into the business world and advance rapidly.

RICHARD MURRAY WALDEN

TRIPOD

"Marshallite" Staff; Harwood Literary Society; Athletic Association; Lieutenant Cadet Corps.

We know that Dick will always be a credit to J. M. His perseverance and good sense will surely win for him a name of renown.

VIRGINIA HENLEY WALKER

Well, Virginia, you've started on the right track and we are all expecting to hear of your fame as an artist some day.

DAVID CAMPBELL WALLACE

DA-DA

Forum Club.

David has so many desires;
To be an engineer, journalist, lawyer he aspires.
Which one he'll be 'twill be hard to tell,
But I know this: he'll surely do well.

DOROTHY MAY WALSHE

DOT

Faithful, laughing, and care-free
Is this girl whose face you see.
Pictured here among these pages,
She'll be known down through the ages.

HAZEL MARIE WALTHER

MUTT

Secretary-Treasurer Senior Spanish Society; Athletic Association; Girl Reserves.

Hazel has a kindly heart
And a disposition sunny.
Hazel has a cheery smile
That is worth a mint of money.
Hazel's smile and winsome grace
Will win her friends in every place.

MARGARET VIRGINIA WATKINS

Margaret, a name not to be forgotten by her friends in years to come. We know that she will be a success in whatever she undertakes, be it domestic life, business, or play.

VIRGINIA OBER WATKINS

JACK

Girl Reserves; Athletic Association; Basketball Team.

Did you ask who "Jack" is? Oh, she's that lively little brunette from Petersburg. Her eyes fairly sparkle with mirth and good-will to mankind. We predict a happy future for her.

MAURY BALDWIN WATTS

Athletic Association; Sergeant Cadet Corps; Vice-President "Monks."

When Baldwin Watts is a "grown-up,"
If ever he gets that way,
He will only do what he wants to,
And that will take all day.

BENJAMIN WILLIAM WEINFELD, JR.

WEENIE

Athletic Association; Senior Spanish Society; Cadet Corps; Secretary Marshall Debating Society; "Marshallite" Staff.

Each day he takes his books with him
And studies them at night;
And not until reports come in
Do we find that he is right.
Prepared he is, and he will be Successful, just you wait and see.

HELEN WERNER

A rare combination of beautiful brown eyes and lovely golden hair, pep, friendliness, and a keen sense of humor is Helen. High in scholarship, she will win fame in whatever she attempts: probably scenario writing.

CATHARINE LUCRETIA WHITE

CHUBBY

Girls' High School Club; Athletic Association; Chorus; Senior French Society; Swimming Team '26, '27.

Summer, 1948—a camp of romping, happy girl scouts. We look for the leader; it is none other than our dear old classmate, Catherine White, now Richmond's Girl Scout Commissioner.

HELEN WILSON WHITE

Athletic Association; Girl Reserves.

High among her studies,
High among her friends,
Faithful to her duties
And tasks unto the end.

We feel assured that we shall see
This face among the rest,
High upon the platform of Happiness, love, and success.

RICHARD JOYNER WHITE

DICK

Cadet Corps; Athletic Association; Forum Club.

Dick will someday be a hero
Like in books we read about;
He'll perform great deeds of valor
As the crowds around him shout.

ETTA WHITEHEAD

Secretary Pep Club; Girl Reserves; Forum Club; Athletic Association.

Etta's smile and lovely ways
Have brightened all our high school days;
Her charm and personality, too,
Have gained her friends that are not few,
And in some future day we state
Fame does for Etta await.

ABE WHITENFISH

ABIE

Orchestra; Athletic Association.

As Abe's music now resounds through the halls at John Marshall, so in the future will the tones of his violin, renowned throughout the world, awaken memories of his Alma Mater.

DOROTHY WHITFIELD

The Siamese twins have nothing over Dot because every time you see Dot you see her violin too. If hard work deserves a reward, the reward should be hers.

ALICE VIRGINIA WHITLOCK

Athletic Association.

Always feeling incompetent, but always on the try!
You'll see Virginia successful some day bye and bye.

MARY ISABEL WHITLOCK

DIT

Laughing and talking
So merry and gay,
A golden-haired teacher
Goes on her way.
Just one glance
Is sufficient to tell
She's our true friend,
Our Isabel!

LEO OTTOWAY WHITLOW

Secretary-Treasurer The Senate; Forum Club; Treasurer Marshall Debating Society; Track '28; Athletic Association.

What! You've never seen Leo run?
Well, come over to the track and watch him some.
After seeing him step a hundred yards or so
You'll say, "To the Olympics he'll surely go."

RALPH MONROE WILEY

SUGAR DROP

Vice-President The Senate; Marshall Debating Society; Chorus; Forum Club.

Ralph shall an explorer be,
And journey to the Antarctic Sea.
Far away in some foreign land
He will journey with his brave band
In search of some great information
To advance the cause of civilization.

DORIS REBECCA WILLIAMS

DOSSIE BECK

Junior Spanish Society; Athletic Association.

There are few who can smile
When something goes wrong
In a world full of evil and strife.
Doris is one, and we'll join in the song,
"She'll Win in the Game of Life."

JOHN RANDOLPH WILLIAMS

Cadet Corps; Harwood Literary Society.

John R. will be successful,
Whatever he may do.
He will make a lot of money
If he goes into the "biz"
Of making school-girl complexions
Exactly just like his.

HOMER STERLING WILSON, JR.

Manager Football '28; Idma Club; Mascot Chic Club.

Homer is that popular, jolly boy known as a good scout by the boys and as "adorable" by the girls. His glory as a team manager will be surpassed only by his fame as an eminent automobile designer.

RUTH MARGARET WILSON

President Duckie Club '27; Senior French Society; Girl Reserves; Athletic Association.

When I look at you, I think of a little girl
With a golden curl; of a dancer fair
With heart free of care; of a real princess
With slim lightness; of a friend that's true
And all that's you, sweet Margaret!

EDWARD MOORE WINFREE

ED

Class of Drama.

Ed is just the kind, with his scientific mind,
Who will get up high in life regardless of the strife;
And some day become known, as later will be shown,
As a great experimenter, or at least a big inventor.

RATCLIFFE WINGFIELD

RAT

With his big brown eyes and his broad slow smile,
Ever willing to help is Rat.
He will make many friends and tease them all
'Till someone kills him for that.

EDITH MAY WOOD
MUTT

Forum Club; Athletic Association; Skipper Club.

She always has a frown when speaking,
But that is because she is thinking.
A piano player she will be
Some day as you will see.

INNIS WOOD

We know not what success your future holds
Nor of what your ambitions consist.
But king or clown,
High up or down,
Your friendship will still exist!

LAURA GLADYS WOOD

Athletic Association.

Years have passed, and we see a teacher in front of her class. We can discern the silver of her hair and a few deep lines in her forehead, and yet we recognize the kind smile of Gladys.

LOIS WOODSON

Infernally tall and just as fiendishly fair,
A mind all-conquering; in the coming years
Suppose her stature, too, to grow should dare.
Zounds! Why bring us to the verge of tears?
Avaunt, ye horrid fears!

SARAH MARGARET WOODSON

BILLY

Athletic Association.

Quiet, shy soul,
To what high goal
Will your craft drive you?
We won't argue it.
Here's our affidavit:
The gods surely gave "IT"
To you.

PERCY CLYDE WOOTERS

BUCK

Football '28; Lieutenant Cadet Corps.

I know not to what heights thou dost aspire
Nor what ambitions are thine;
But high or low,
I'll always know
Your work has noble design!

EDITH VIRGINIA WYNNE

EDEE

Athletic Association; Harwood Literary Society.

Jolly, dimpled Edee insists upon being a stenographer. She'll be a popular one, too!

EVELYN MEDERA ZABAN

Athletic Association.

Her name will be great among athletes. One of these days she will bring glory to America and herself in the Olympic games.

Prophecy of the Class of 1929

THE little girl sighed. She was rather sorry, after all, that she had insisted on coming to the opera with mother. Of course, it was nice to know that she'd had her own way again; but who wanted to sit still for hours, listening to fat, ugly people sing songs with silly words and no tunes? Mother was looking through her pretty opera glasses, now that the lights had come on again, and was nodding and smiling to people. The little girl felt neglected. She punched mother—hard.

"I want to go home!"

Mother looked around, immediately attentive. "Oh, I'm so sorry! I was having such a good time seeing all my old friends that I almost forgot you were here. Don't you want me to point some of them out to you while we wait for the next act to begin?"

The little girl took the glasses in eager, almost reverent hands. She held them up to her eyes and gasped at the change they made. How close and colorful and pretty everything looked!

"See the man over there in the uniform—the one everybody is looking at?" asked mother. "He's General Epps of the United States Army; I hear that he quite distinguished himself in the last war with Canada. You see, I happen to know him because we went to the same high school together. Of course, he was just 'Jack' to everybody then, though. . . . And look, dear, there's the great actress, Roxane Mathieu, over there! Doesn't she look stunning? She's certainly made a name for herself—New York, London, and Paris are all crazy about her. . . . What? You want to know who that great big man standing down there in the aisle is? Oh, that's Gordon Baker, who made such a wonderful record at Yale. He was something of an athlete at John Marshall, too, I recall. . . . And—oh, there's Alice Todd waving at me! I didn't know she was back from England. Can't wait to see her and find out if she's really engaged to a prince. They say she made quite a hit when she was presented at Court. I'm glad she didn't forget and ask the king if he'd paid his dues! . . . Do you see that intellectual-looking man over there? Well, he's not half as dignified as he looks. In fact, Jesse Mahoney was once a star football player. He's one of the eminent literary men of the day now. . . ."

"Mother," interrupted the little girl eagerly, "I see somebody I know myself—I mean I know his picture when I see it. It's Governor McCarthy, isn't it?"

"Of course, it is! And, speaking of him, did you know it's rumored that he's to run for President? He'll probably get it, too—Frank has a gift for holding offices. He was the president of my class when I graduated from high school, you know. . . . Darling, don't point! I see the ones you mean. The ones talking so busily, you say? They're Willa Upchurch—she's the one that writes that poetry we like so much—and Margaret Hudson. Margaret's a famous lawyer and is making use of her great debating ability. I'll bet old J. M. is proud of both of them. . . . Oh, and there are two people you'll certainly want to see! Martha Sanders, the lovely movie star, and 'Hank' Culpeper, famous comedian. Of course, dear, you've seen them both. They're great favorites—particularly in Richmond. I hear they've just arrived from Hollywood. . . . See those people coming in now? That's Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Hudgins and family. Mr. Hudgins is a prosperous banker, and his wife was formerly Miss Marjorie Aiken, of this city. Aren't the children adorable? There're some other celebrities down in the Governor's box that I skipped over. The one on the left is Moses Crighton, one of the track men who represented America in the Olympics last year. And on the right is Olin Rogers—you've surely heard of him? He's the United States Ambassador to England and has earned quite a reputation as a diplomat. I see by the papers that he's very popular both in London and Washington. . . . Well, will you look over there! Bud Dunn, herself! Did I ever tell you about her? Well, when she was a debutante here she was so besieged with admirers that she finally had to escape to Paris to get a little rest. And no sooner did she get there than she fell desperately in love with a poor—but dreadfully romantic—French artist, and a week later they were married. She is visiting here and they say her marriage was a great success. . . Look, dear, over there! It's John Harvie, the great musical comedy producer from New York. I understand he's made a tremendous success starring Netta Gates, dancer, and Clareine Sheppe, singer. And Dan Browning is the musical director. It's strange that I knew them all, years ago!"

The little girl surveyed the audience with interest.

"Mother, who's that up there with all those little boys? She's waving to you like she's excited to death."

Mother gasped. "Why, it's Lele Bowers!—and as peppy as ever! She's the one I told you about, who eloped with a handsome young millionaire and went out West to live when she was only eighteen. And now she's back again—with four little boys! I should have thought she would have written to me once in all these years, especially since she used to be the secretary of our class! But then, I guess she's had her hands full... How do you do, Mr. Hill?" In a whisper: "That's Walker Hill, who edits a magazine that holds quite a place in the literary world. I guess he got his start in high school—he was the editor-in-chief of our Annual, you see."

Just then someone came running down the aisle and dropped lightly into an empty seat beside mother. The little girl recognized her as Miss Margaret Gathright, an old friend of mother's who had recently become very well known as an illustrator.

"It's just a minute before the lights go off," she explained hurriedly, "but I simply had to ask you if you had heard the news about our old schoolmates! You remember Emma Weatherell? Well, she was flying over to Paris the other day for her spring wardrobe when something happened to her engine and she dropped right in the middle of the Atlantic. And who do you suppose came along then just in time to rescue her? Admiral Albert Childrey on the United States steamship John Marshall! Wasn't that thrilling? ... Speaking of former Marshallites, I just saw Margaret Miller and Anne Bradley here. Did you know that they've opened up a very smart tea-room and are making all the money imaginable? But what else could you expect, when two clever and attractive heads like theirs get together? ... And, by the way, did you hear Miley's Band at the new City Auditorium the other night? Everybody's saying he's a second Sousa. But then, I knew Errett would amount to something, didn't you?"

Before mother had time to answer, the lights blinked out and an expectant hush crept over the audience. The little girl settled back in her seat, but her eyes were not on the stage. They were turned toward the future ... a lovely, vague, rose-colored mystery which turned one from a mere nobody into a person whom others pointed out at the opera and read about in the papers. Slowly, like a veil which separated the colorless realities of today from the golden dreams of tomorrow, the curtain began to rise....

ANNE INGLES.

En Avant

From where he stood he gazed and saw
The first peak, tall and fair,
And cried, "I'll reach it! Oh, the pride
To stand triumphant there!"
When, after failures and hard trials,
He reached his young desire,
His friends cried, "Fine!" but soon he saw
The second summit's spire.
All triumph died; he yearned for this,
To him a hallowed land.
He strived and reached it, but with falls
And many a helping hand.
Oh, joy! More came to press his hand
And give him garlands sweet!
Another peak, though, drew his gaze
And lured his weary feet.
And so on, higher, higher on,
Some magnet sought his soul;
He followed, not without his pains
And itchings for the goal.
But e'er the cheering urged him on
To win more strong applaud.
He strode on, taking every chance
Of fairness, not of fraud.
'Twas hard, not something to be done
Within a single day,
For sometimes envious climbers sought
To stand before his way.
Sometimes he followed mirages
That proved but vacant scenes,
But ever still he pushed and sought
The next peak's flowers and greens.
At last he stood upon the peak
That towered above the rest.
The people praised the one who won
The noblest and the best.
His restlessness prevailed, but he
Had nothing else to gain;
Dissatisfied, he had not found
His rainbow after rain,
So of all things both good and grand
He fashioned without pride
A ladder raising him to Heaven,
And there ambition died.

JUNIORS

JUNIOR CLASS

Junior Class

OFFICERS

Robert Crenshaw	President
Velma Graham	Vice-President
Julia Donohue	Secretary
Nancy Wingfield	Treasurer

THE Junior Class has courted little publicity and its many shining lights have glimmered but faintly up to the present. Watch their growing radiance as they emerge from their becoming modesty as Juniors and assume the dignity and wisdom of Seniors.

The class extends its grateful appreciation to Miss Cross for the valuable time and assistance she has rendered us since the withdrawal of Miss Gill, our former sponsor, who was compelled to relinquish the sponsorship because of the double-shift schedule adopted in September.

Knight in Armor

UPON this field of glory
Still other knights remain,
Though this one lies before you,
By your gleaming sword slain.

Other Knights will seek a battle
With you upon this field.
Conquer them with gleaming armor,
Burnished sword, shining shield.

For with each conquered battle
Will your strength and power increase;
You must grow in skill and valor
For the battles never cease.

So, fare you forth, O knight in armor;
May it always shining be,
For no man can fight the battle
Unequipped for victory.

Miss Pauline Benton	Sponsor

DESPITE the fact that the school has been somewhat unsettled on account of the three-shift schedule, our Sophomore year has been very delightful and profitable to us.

Our interesting meetings, enjoyable programs, and dances have made it desirable to be a Sophomore. The spirit of our Freshman year was renewed in our Sophomore year, and we hope that this will continue throughout our Junior and Senior years.

Miss Benton has certainly shown true sponsor spirit in her co-operation with and work for the class. We hope that when we honorable Sophomores have passed into our Junior year we shall be fortunate enough to have her who has helped us to be the best Sophomore Class that John Marshall has ever had.

Our class officers have contributed a great deal toward the success of the class and toward making our meetings interesting.

Deeper Waters

FREE your frail bark from its mooring,
Oh, young oarsmen, and row out
Where the billows bounding, dashing,
Dare you bring your spirits, stout.

Let the salt spray splash your faces
As the white waves break on you,
And your boat rides lightly over
Bringing you a nearer view

Of the port you're rowing toward.
Do not fear the dark'ning ocean,
Nor the frailty of your craft.
If the storm break rough with motion,

Stronger ships will come to save
Everyone whose heart is brave.

FRESHMEN

FRESHMAN CLASS

The Freshman Class

WELL, here we are! Marshallites at last! It took us seven long years to get here only to learn that we knew nothing. After we had recovered from the excitement of becoming real Marshallites, we were organized by Miss Benton, the Sophomore sponsor. She set us upon our feet by helping us elect our own sponsor, and now we are officially known as the Class of '32.

Our history is necessarily brief. The most outstanding events outlined in good historical order are as follows:

I. Election of Officers.
   a. Great excitement.

II. Wienie Roast at Bryan Park.
   a. More excitement.
   b. Freshman meets Freshman.

III. "Flu" Epidemic.
   a. Headaches and make-up tests.

IV. Choosing of Colors and Flower.
   a. Grave deliberation and great perturbation of dormant brain matter.
   b. Colors: Purple and White.
   c. Flower: Iris.

Our officers, who have been whipping into shape the raw material of our class, are as follows:

HARRY FLOOD BYRD ..... President
GARNETT SMITH ..... Vice-President
HAZEL COX ..... Secretary
TOM PETTIGREW ..... Treasurer
MARIE DULING ..... Reporter
KENNETH HARGRAVE ..... Historian
MISS MARY PEPLE ..... Sponsor

HERE strive John Marshall's sons—and daughters, too,
In glad or dreary contest, tried and true,
In year-long battles seeking yearned-for goals
In school and out. And far beyond there rolls
The roar of conflict still. Tongue, pen, sword
(Unmoved save when the evil horde
Assails) are whetted here to fight and win
For all that's high and good. We here begin
To learn of battle. John Marshall's children, too,
Here learn to play as sons and daughters true.

MAYOR J. FULMER BRIGHT FIRST MONOCLE SUBSCRIBER

Thinks Paper Should Be Asset for John Marshall High

PROMINENT MEN WRITE

Carter Wormeley and Walter Holladay Express Best Wishes for All Success and Progress

Mayor J Fulmer Bright recently showed his great enthusiasm over the publication of a weekly newspaper at John Marshall by voluntarily becoming the first subscriber to THE MONOCLE. When interviewed, the Mayor stated, "I think it is a great thing for you young men to try to stir up some interest in journalism at John Marshall. Your paper should be a fine thing for the school, and I should like to subscribe."

Since this, subscriptions have been flowing in in large numbers. Many students were eager to subscribe before the publication of the paper was announced. The Mayor, however, beat them all to it. Now that the first issue is out, the business staff expect the subscription list to double itself. Students may sign up and pay at the regular many prominent business men and journalists of Richmond who extend best wishes to THE MONOCLE. One of particular interest was from State Senator Waller Holladay, who says:

"It has come to my attention that THE MONOCLE will appear March 1. I understand it is primarily for the student body, and I can well see how it may interest outsiders and students of other schools as well as those of John Marshall High. You have my best wishes for its success."

MR. HOKE MAKES TRIP TO ANOTHER PLANET

Left Yesterday Afternoon With Gigantic Sling Shot; Cheered by Admiring Enthusiasts

Mr. Hoke, prominent member of John Marshall faculty, traveled Marsward yesterday at 3 o'clock. For some time Mr. Hoke has been working on an apparatus which would convey him to that planet. He finally rigged up a gigantic sling shot. Directly in the center of the huge rubber was a comfortable little cabin. This cabin was held fast with chewing gum, to prevent the release of the cabin from the sling shot too quickly. The rubber was held down by the John Marshall football team. Mr. Hoke gave the signal "Alley-oop!" to Captain Henry Taylor, who sounded the signal down the line, and all let go at once. Immediately the majestic rubber bounded skyward amid cheering of the enthusiastic mob. The crowd was thrilled to the marrow, if crowds have marrows.

At 7 minutes and 30 seconds after 5 o'clock, a message came from Mr. Hoke—"Am having pork and apple-

3 CAPTAINS PICK THEIR SPONSORS FOR COMPANIES

OTHERS STILL UNDECIDED

Miss Elizabeth Browning Asked to Sponsor Company D and Accepts

Captain Harold Nunnamaker has announced that Miss Elizabeth Browning will be the new sponsor for Company D. Miss Browning, popular member of the Duckies' Club, is the sister of Dan Browning, leader of the West Club orchestra, and former captain of Company D. It is said that Captain Browning did a great deal for the company, and cadets are glad to hear that his sister is the one chosen for this year. They accepted the news with great enthusiasm.

According to reports, Miss Marjorie Aiken has been selected sponsor of Company A, which is led by Captain Cliff Hodgins. Miss Aiken said a few words to the men of Company A before the recent competitive drill, and she was applauded enthusiastically. There can be no doubt that the present captains have good judgment, according to the men of the various companies.

Captain Smith has not yet announced the sponsor of Company C.

No reports have been made as to who will be chosen by Captain Martin of Company B, and Captain Rogers of Company E. The sponsors for the Staff and Band are not yet announced either. These, however, will be made public in the near future.

Taken together, the sponsors already chosen measure up in every way to those of past years. Both are popular club members and should be able to furnish inspiration enough to lead their companies to success. The Cadets are indeed fortunate in this respect.

For the benefit of those who are not well acquainted with military customs, a

Roles Assigned For Operetta to Be Given in May

Mr. Mercer and Miss Van Vort to Direct Riding Down the Sky

CHORUSES IN REHEARSAL

Many Prominent Marshallites to Appear in Cast; Promises to Be the Best Ever

At last the much talked-of operetta has taken a definite shape and is to be given during the first week in May. From the daily rehearsals which have been going on for the past two months, the operetta promises to be one of the best John Marshall has ever produced.

The operetta, called Riding Down the Sky. As the name suggests, an airplane plays an important part in it.

The scene is laid in Santa Delmonica, a small republic in Central America. The plot is concerned with a young American millionaire, Ben Baker, who falls in love with Carmelita, the beautiful and very prominent daughter of Don Pedro, [illegible] president of the Republic.

SENIOR CLASS TO GIVE A TEA DANCE IN GEORGE WYTHE GYM AFTER SCHOOL

George Wythe Gym to be Scene of First Activity of Term

The Senior Class begins its second term activity today with a tea dance given in the George Wythe Gymnasium at 3:30. This is the first activity of the class since it presented its annual Christmas play in December, and it is said that it will be the most interesting. Miss Margaret Dunn, better known as "Bud," who is in charge of the dance, reports that refreshments will be served. This should prove a great drawing card for those who do not dance, and seniors who have paid their

GOVERNOR'S SON GETS RADIOGRAM FROM EXPLORER

COMMANDER BYRD RADIOS

Says Many of His Provisions Come From Richmond and Other Virginia Cities

[illegible] Gibbs, recently announced to a Monocle reporter that he has received a radiogram from Richard Evelyn Byrd, [illegible] who is leading the Byrd Antarctic Expedition, now at the South Pole. Although it has been some time since the radiogram was received, this news has not until now been made public.

When interviewed, the Freshman President was glad to reveal the contents of the radiogram. It stand as follows:

Having lots of adventures and high times, but gradually getting equipment ashore. Wire you were along.

Love,
Uncle Dick.

The fact that the explorer "wished he was along" was mutual, according to a statement made by Harry, Wednesday. He is following the reports with very great interest, and it is said that he is as well posted on what progress has been made as those officially connected with the enterprise.

The Byrd Antarctic Expedition is of great concern to Virginians since its leader was born and reared in this State. Many of the provisions taken into the Antarctic were shipped from Richmond

MISS VAN VORT CALLS FOR SCHOOL SPIRIT

Miss Van Vort is calling on John Marshall's school spirit and talent to wipe out a great disgrace to the school and to Richmond. For many years John Marshall has never won a prize for either literature or debating in the State-wide contests held annually at the University of Virginia for high school students. The English department thinks this a most uncomplimentary record for the largest school of the South, and is issuing a plea for at least some effort to win a prize this year.

These contests offer wide opportunity to the literary inclined of John Marshall, there being chances to compete in poetry, the short story, and the essay. All contributions must have been written some

MARSHALL STUDENTS ATTEND GUILD DRAMA

Many Lose Sleep by Attending Theatre; Several Plays Given; More Students Will Go

As the week of modern classical drama presented at the Lyric by the New York Theatre Guild through the efforts of the Richmond News Leader nears its end, High School students seem to look more bleary-eyed every day. Large numbers of Marshallites were seen at all the performances so far, and it is believed that even more will attend the week-end shows.

"The Doctor's Dilemma" was presented Monday night, and there were seen many girls in the audience. This is attributed to the fact that there was only one woman in the cast. Putting two and two together, we gather that there must have been a number of actors required, and handsome actors are scarce.

The second play, "Ned McCobb's Daughter," seemed to draw most of its audience from the male theatergoers, while the Wednesday matinee perfor-

"All the world's a stage and all the men and women merely players."

BUT what a group of players and what a play, this thing called "Life"; and no one is the audience, for everyone must live and be the whole show. Therein lies the trouble, but we would be ambitious; we would aspire to fame; we would act for the joy of acting, would study for the joy of learning. We would prove to the world that Drama is as great an art as Music, Painting, and Poetry.

Chorus of soldiers, citizens, and villagers

SYNOPSIS OF SCENES

Act I—Plaza in Hermosa, capital of Santa Delmonica, morning of a summer day.
Act II—The same, afternoon of same day.
Time—The present.

WE FEEL that we have passed another milestone—that we have accomplished something worth while—when we remember the great success of the Operetta, "Riding Down the Sky." The colorful costumes and scenery made the setting very attractive, and the witty lines and catchy music, combined with the excellent acting and singing of the players, made the production most successful.

Who can forget "Joshua" as portrayed by Charles Phaup? Laughter seemed contagious when he was on the stage. Other characters, as well, afforded the audience numerous laughs. Comedy was the key-note, for nearly every character was an exaggeration.

Romance was made real by the fine acting of the leads, Carmelita and Ben, and their excellent singing.

The graceful Spanish dances went well with the costumes and set, and were exceptionally well done. Comedy dancing was afforded by the boys' chorus when they attempted to imitate that of the girls.

The songs varied from the catchy tunes to those of beautiful harmony—fitting in perfectly with the time and situation of the plot.

The Operetta was directed by Miss Van Vort and Miss Wheeler in dramatic lines, and the music was under the direction of Mr. Mercer. The picturesque setting we owe to the work of Mr. Spear and the lighting effects to Mr. Sisson. They all deserve praise for their untiring efforts in making it such a success, for it was an enjoyable and highly creditable production.

Senior French Society

PARLEZ-VOUS FRANCAIS? Well, if not, you do not know what fun you are missing. At our various meetings we have had very interesting discussions of French authors and of the cities from which they came. We have talked of the customs of France, which are so different from those of our country, and we have found that France is even more alluringly interesting than we had thought. Of course, you must not think that French has been all play, for irregular verbs insist upon being learned and the other rules can't be overlooked. The French seven and eight class has Miss Holt as teacher and supervisor in all work and fun. This class held a Christmas banquet which was such a success that a picnic was planned, which was still more enjoyable. All senior French groups work hard and earn their good times. We all strive to attain a real Parisian accent and are able to say, "Vive La France!" with real meaning and real love.

Junior French Society

"RIGHT over this way, ladies and gentlemen. Step up just a little bit closer, please," yells the barker. So just get a little bit closer and inspect our group of French scholars as we pose on the steps of John Marshall High School and hear the voice of the camera-man saying so insultingly, "Now look pretty, please." Of course, at that moment we are seized with a violent fit of coughing or an irritating itch on the nose. But at that we're a happy bunch, as you would know if you should see the smiles on our faces in one of our class meetings. But please don't interrupt when we are struggling over our monotonous verbs and idioms or making all sorts of faces trying to pronounce some difficult word. But French isn't so hard, and when we set our hearts to it, we find it very enjoyable.

Every cloud has a silver lining and so we come to our lighter moments: our monthly class meetings and social affairs. We derive heaps of fun and learning from reading plays and singing songs in French, hearing French talks, and in the jokes and news items in Le Petit Journal, that delightful little French paper which has many enthusiastic subscribers in our society. This comes to us twice a month and gives us some variety of French learning in a delightful way.

Although our pronunciation might make a Frenchman's flesh creep, we all hope to visit beautiful France someday and see the places of which we have read. Wish us luck until we make our appearance in the Senior French Society, and until then, "Au revoir."

Senior Spanish Society

WITH the beginning of the new term, the Senior Spanish Society immediately set to the work of organizing. The officers having been elected and the committees appointed, the Program Committee came forward with the suggestion that we make an imaginary tour of the Spanish-speaking countries of the world by means of talks and pictures. And so we set out. At each meeting we were transported in rapid succession from one land to another, viewing the people, their homes, costumes, and manner of living. Portugal, Mexico, Spanish Morocco, Porto Rico, Cuba, and the South American countries—all were visited with a great deal of interest.

Although very little in the way of social activity was attempted, we felt that we did a great deal toward furthering our knowledge of those interesting and romantic people, the Spaniards. And, to you, the Senior Spanish Society of 1929-30, we leave the sincere wish that you will plan and carry out an enjoyable social as well as instructive program. With the interest in the Spanish language increasing every year, you should have a large membership and do great things.

And now, as conclusion, what could be more appropriate than "Viva la Sociedad Espanola"?

Junior Spanish Society

THE Junior Spanish Society of John Marshall High School had its birth on Friday, February 17, 1917. The object of this society is to promote the interests of Spanish in the classes at John Marshall and to encourage social relations among the pupils and teachers. It has always been a strong organization, and this past year, under the able guidance of the teachers of the Spanish classes, it has reflected honor on its Alma Mater.

Monthly meetings are held, at which are discussed the current events of Spain, Mexico, and South America. These are obtained from a Spanish paper, "El Eco," to which we subscribe. Often we have book reviews on such works as Cervantes' "Don Quixote." One of the most interesting events on our calendar of activities was a talk on "Lindbergh in Mexico and Spanish America." This was enjoyed by all who were present.

We aim high and hope that we will be able to live up to our motto, "Querer es poder."

THE MARSHALL DEBATING SOCIETY has functioned very actively since September and has striven to live up to its past history in endeavoring to create interest in all phases of literary work.

Debating

DEBATING has always been of interest in John Marshall and this year has been marked by an even greater interest on the part of the two debating societies and the student body.

In the debate that took place between the Van Vort Debating Society and the Marshall Debating Society on March 19, in the auditorium, Elizabeth Floyd and Julian Savage were chosen by the judges as the team to represent John Marshall in the debates with other schools competing for the State Championship.

The subject of the State Debate was "Resolved: That the Counties of Virginia Should Adopt the Manager Form of Government." It is a question widely discussed, and, due to its newness, references were difficult to find. This served to intensify the interest in the debate and the rivalry between the two societies.

The team debated against Petersburg High School in Petersburg on April 22, taking the negative side of the question, and upheld the affirmative against the William and Mary Freshman team on April 26 in the John Marshall auditorium.

The societies have already begun preparation for next year's debate in the selecting of new members.

THE SENATE, with little more than a year's existence, has rapidly grown to be the recognized authority on parliamentary law and procedure. Its members are eagerly sought when questions of this nature arise, and they are prominent in the literary societies of the school. Dances and similar events serve to enliven the school term and relieve the tedium of study.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL TEAM

Girls' Basketball

"CENTRAL, give me 'Basketball 1929.' Hello. This is John Marshall High School. We have our report ready for Father Time.

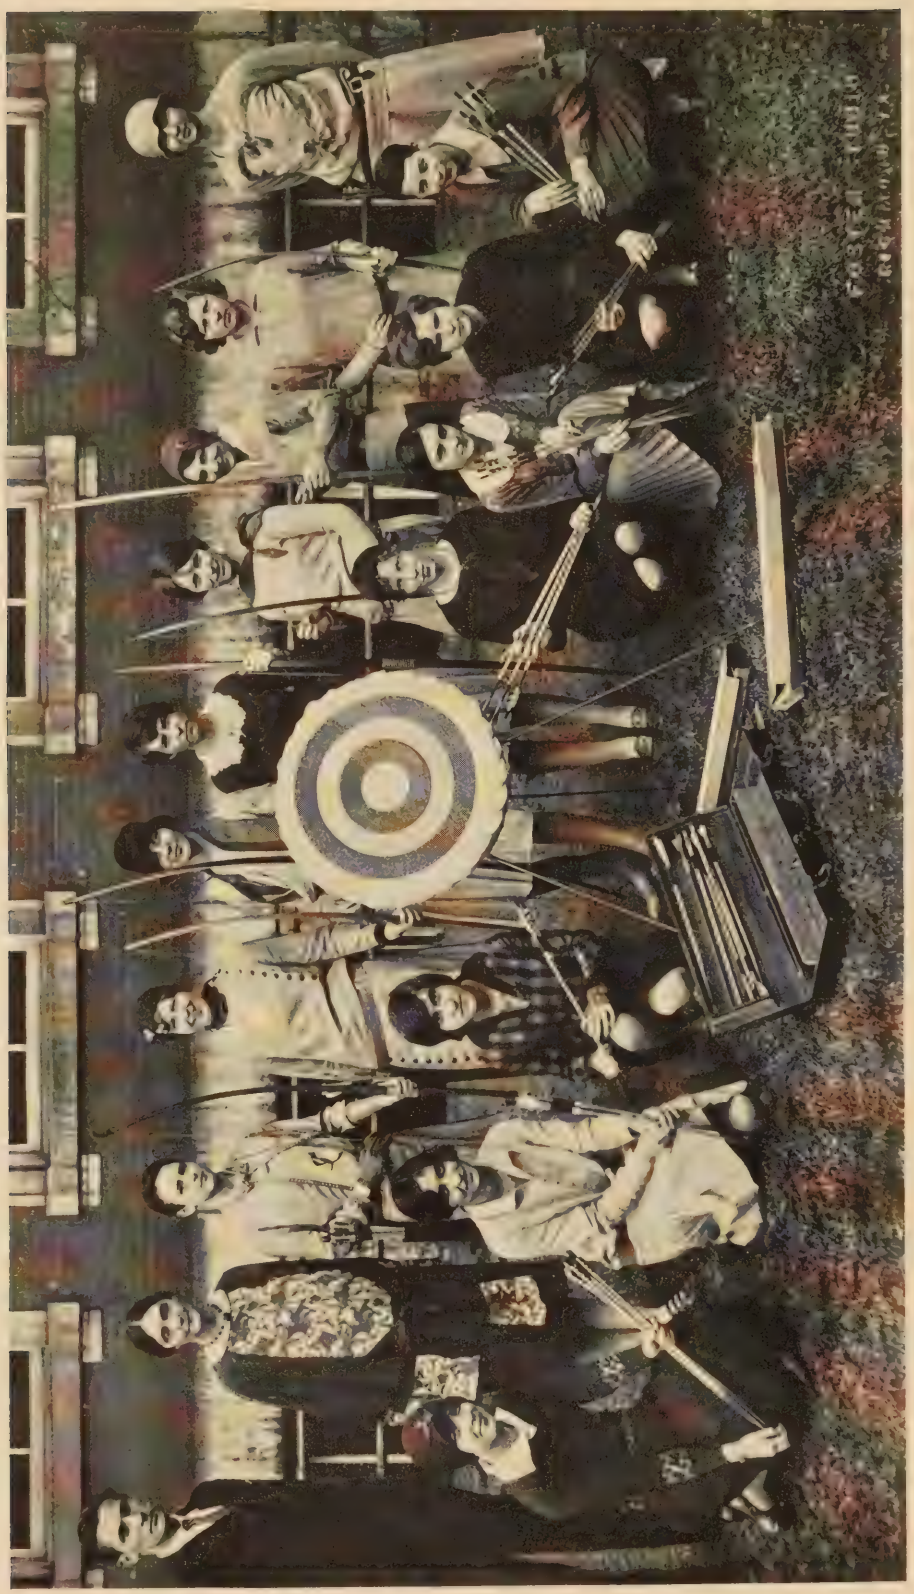
"Now, shall we tell you first the teams we played? Probably you know most of them. They're Collegiate, St. Catherine's, Westhampton Frosh., Sacred Heart, Richmond Normal, and William and Mary Extension.

"One of the most important things to tell you is the fact that we had two squads in '29, instead of one: the John Marshall and High School squads. High School had outside games as well as varsity.

"Who was on the varsity? Why, Lida Stokes was captain. She, Catherine Tate, 'Dot' Richardson, Florence Crotzer, Neva Keeney, Dolores Forbes, Charlotte Montgomery, and Theressa Talley played forward. The guards were Edith Hogan, Lucille Schmitz, Rebecca Hodges, 'Dot' Gruener, Jane Farinholt, Ruth Crutchfield, and Margaret Gaines. In the center were Julia Sadler, Stella Coake, Vivienne Hazle, Anne Coale, Virginia Watkins, and Betsy Britton. Kitty Lee was manager, with Virginia Sanford as assistant.

"And I want to tell you that Mrs. Wood coached us this year again, and we attribute most of our fun and success to her.

"Do we consider this year a success? Yes, indeed! For we learned how to play not only the game of basketball, but also the great game of life."



ARCHERY CLUB

"We shot our arrows toward the sun
Beside the castle wall.
His arrow was the highest one,
The highest one of all.
Another archer said, 'You win.'
He answered, 'No, I but begin.
No archer wins, or ever will;
He goes on aiming higher still.'

* * * * *

"This makes us archers, makes us men,
And this is all that will:
To shoot, and then to aim again
A little higher still.
However high your arrow went,
Be not with one success content;
Still higher look! Look not below,
But lift your aim, and bend the bow!"

The John Marshall Archery Club

FROM the questions that have been asked this year we are beginning to think that these words are foreign to all except the Archers. Yet—last spring we won the trophy given by the city and now have the two best Archers and State first and second champions with the rifle in our club.

This year we began the term with a hike. There are very few who do not know of the experiences on this hike: the terrified new girls who had to shoot a pistol, and Muriel's incessant singing of "The Bear Went Over the Mountain" while she chased Edwin over the hills left by the cornstalks—(miserabile visu)!

That was all play. As soon as the cold weather came it was hard for us to practice, although "Max," "Muriel," "Viv" and a few others did brave the cold and wind and, with the aid of a fire, manage to obtain a few practices. Berry's, however, solved the problem when they had an indoor range built. Here many have been going every day. This, of course, includes our supervisor, who overheard this conversation one day: "I don't see how she can be supervisor. I thought they were supposed to be able to make the highest scores." But never mind, Muriel, we all know that you made the highest score possible the other day with three arrows—27 out of 27.

Besides the demonstration given in March at the Byrd, the winter has been spent in practice, and that is why we have the State champions in both archery and rifle in our club. Remember—"So long as the new moon returns in heaven a bent, beautiful bow, so long will the fascination of archery keep hold of the hearts of men."

HE stands erect; his slouch becomes a walk;
He steps right onward, martial in his air,
His form and movement.

The Corps of Cadets

THE fall of 1928 saw many changes brought about within the Military Department. The superior work of the corps as observed by the War Department's inspecting officer during the preceding session caused the Federal authorities to approve a request for additional infantry equipment, so that by October units were at drill with Browning machine guns, the Browning automatic rifle, the 37 mm. gun, and the Stokes trench mortar. Engineer sketching equipment was also received in the shipment and has proved of great value in the instruction given in military sketching and mapping. In September Captain John G. Folkes, a graduate of the Virginia Military Institute in the Class of 1926, was appointed Assistant Commandant of Cadets and has supervised the instruction in auxiliary weapons until this phase has approached a most efficient and highly trained department.

The expansion of instruction in military has now reached the stage where any cadet serving four years in the corps is offered the general requirements for the qualification of Second Lieutenant of Infantry in the Officers' Reserve Corps, Army of the United States. The War Department has authorized the admission of those cadets who have completed at least three years of military service with credit and are nineteen years of age to enter the Blue Course of Infantry at C. M. T. Camps, the successful completion of which will result in the candidate's being awarded a commission at the age of 21.

In addition to some four-score new cadets who soon proved worthy of the JMHS uniform, February brought an invitation from Washington for the participation of a representation from the corps in the Inaugural parade. The detachment was limited to a band of thirty-five and a company of not over a hundred cadets. With funds generously provided through local assistance, a picked detachment was selected comprising a company staff, "the colors," and three rifle platoons, in addition to the band. V. M. I. very generously sent the overcoats needed for the composite company, but the band cadets, due to smaller physique, could not be outfitted. The trip in conclusion was an advertisement and experience well worth the time and effort expended.

Easter week saw the annual visit to V. M. I. of the detail of cadet officers selected by the Principal and Commandant on basis of academic proficiency and military aptitude. As usual the results of this trip were invaluable, in that the drills and general system observed at V. M. I. enabled those making the trip to profit by the traditional efficiency of "the West Point of the South," as seen in the parades, etc., held daily on the parade ground in Lexington.

One of the most interesting additions to the 1929 spring program was the field maneuver held in May at Byrd Park, which every unit of the corps attended as if in actual combat. Every phase of winter instruction was in this manner demonstrated practically, and so co-ordinated as to comprise an actual war situation. In this way every cadet was tested regarding leadership, initiative, and sense of duty and responsibility. Field equipment for this event was issued under special permission from the War Department.

It is with keen regret that the corps was informed in April of the retirement of Colonel Clarence Deems, Jr., R. O. T. C. Officer for the 3rd Corps Area, who with the assistance of Mr. Harwood and the city school officials had done so much in the interest of the John Marshall corps since 1926, when the War Department began its annual inspections.

John Marshall Stirs Them

THE applause of the crowds, and not the keenness of their State pride, convinced Virginians in Washington on Monday that the Old Dominion made a better showing than any other State in the inaugural parade. From one end of the avenue to the other, the Virginia contingents were received loudly and admiringly. They marched splendidly. They were smartly uniformed, and they were altogether defiant of the rain.

While every one of the commands was cheered by the crowd, the cadets of John Marshall High School undeniably made the strongest appeal. Through the kindness of the V. M. I., the Richmond lads were supplied with overcoats for the day, so that they were protected against the weather, even if the fit of each coat might not have pleased a Richmond clothier. The capes of these overcoats, it will be remembered, are lined with red, and when they are turned back for marching, they give picturesque coloring to the gray of coat and cap. The boys marched, of course, superlatively well. They always do that, but on Monday they were sharply conscious that the eyes of their commander-in-chief were upon them, and if they had been the best company of West Point, on final dress parade, they could not have moved with greater precision as they passed the stand where Mr. Hoover smilingly greeted them. No unit in the whole parade attracted more attention.

All of which should go down in the book of remembrance at John Marshall.

Dear Allie Kae,

I know you're interested in what we have accomplished this year. I could begin by telling you of the club spirit, but it's so unnecessary. You've been an IMP, an IMP president at that, and you've known that Impy feeling that comes over you when you first don your sweat-shirt.

Don't you think that the most important thing we've done was to organize the Alumnae Club? What could show a truer IMP spirit than to see most of the former Imps gathered together—all happiness and enthusiasm over the idea of still being members of the Impish realm. With you as chairman, I know the Alumnae group will mean as much to them as the active club means to us.

The IMP cabaret (this was a real Bohemian affair) and our midwinter dance, both, were huge successes. One was work; the other play, but we showed that we could put our hearts into each with equal spirit.

Yes! I think we've had a successful year, but how could we help it with the guidance of our beloved "Miss Jack," who is never too busy to listen to our troubles, and our mascot, who has helped us at every time.

Allie Kae, aren't we true Imps?

Very Impishly yours,

Madeline.

Pep Club

DEAR FRIENDS,

As I grow old and ponder
O'er the days that used to be,
My memory will always wander
Back to days o' P-E-P:
The fun we had at John Marshall,
The trials and tribulations,
The joys and sorrows numerous,
Shouts and exclamations,
The peppiest club at the games
Urging vic-to-ry.
Oh! I can hear us yet,
The spirit o' P-E-P.
Then as my vision clearer grows,
The "Peps" themselves I see.
A laugh, a giggle (pause!) and then
There's the Pep, Lele.
And who's that chic, cute girl
Whose laughter fills the hall?
Oh! She's upholding the pepper box;
That's Roxy—that's all!
And, then someone will ask you,
"Who's this charming dame?"
Sparkling eyes, filled with mirth,
Full o' grace—Yes, that's her name.
And how our Annes do shine,
Each with her own fine rep.
The "new" Anne, quite beautiful,
And Ann Davis, full o' pep.
And surely you know Anne Ingles,
Whose writing ne'er dismays,
Without whom there'd be great loss.
She's peppy in many ways.
Oh yes, the girl with eyes o' blue,
Who looks so full o' fun,
Yes, that's Etta—a real, true Pep
An' surely a peach o' one.
Who? Well, there are Martha and Frances
Who help to pull us through.
Darling girls, prides to the Peps
And quite spiffy ones, too.
And just beyond is Lida—
Athletic, no time to spare—
You know her as soon as you see her
By her smile and reddish hair.
And 'fore my vision's over
Here's the best of all the best.
'Tis jus' Miss Williams, herself,
Of course!—the peppiest!
So with her at our lead
And "Hank" keeping step
We've tried to live as our sisters did,
Giving John Marshall "Pep"!
And now to all who follow us
We wish success in every line
To you—and to John Marshall.

Dear "Mac,"

Of course you'll want to know what the Chics are doing this year. Well, they've done plenty and are planning to do plenty more. Our officers and members this year are: Margaret Miller, president; Catherine Flake, treasurer and reporter; Anne Wilbon; Julia Nance; Jean Foster; Elizabeth Philips; Mary Frances Bowie; Catherine Russell. The new members who were bid in the first of the year are: Elizabeth Epps, Elizabeth Richardson, Doris Ballou, Emily Meade, and Homer Wilson, our mascot. Later Miss Wheeler agreed to become our sponsor, and we were determined to work to keep the high standards she set for us. First we gave a card party in order to strengthen the treasury, and then we gave a dance at Chic Jean Foster's home. This was more than successful. And oh, "Mac"! Our pins—they're bee-utiful—if you could only see them!

On December 14th and 15th the Class of Drama presented three one-act plays, and a prize of ten dollars was offered to the club selling the most tickets. Well, the Chics relieved them of that prize by a big lead.

Well, "Mac," we acted on your advice and tried to make it known that "Chic" did not mean chickens but "Chicque." Don't you know it hasn't impressed anyone, but we'll show them yet. And "Mac," we have got school-spirit and we're going to show them that too. Maybe we haven't done anything to show it, but it's been in our hearts and so we're not going to be an individual club any longer; we're going to jump right in and show 'em we've got it and plenty of it. When the bids go out, we're going to get girls who will carry on the "Chicque" banner and work to put the club on top.

Wish us luck, "Mac," and remember that it was your good leadership that put us to work.

"Chic" Catherine.

Be sure not to forget Your class in summer school. Best wishes.

Skipper Club

Dear Former Members,

Our Skippers so gay are now sailing away
("Yo-Ho! Yo-Ho!" say we.)
With hearts that are light as the wings of a kite.
Tell us whither you fare, and what treasure you bear.
"Aye, sure, if you wish it," say they.

The rank-and-file Skipper will steer by the Dipper,
("Ho-Hum! Ho-Hum!" say we.)
And inside his big cup we will tumble our luck.
Just to sail up life's stream will fulfill every dream.
"'Tis quite sure to be so," say they.

We have paper aplenty, so smooth and so scenty.
("So-So! So-So" say we.)
We have dropped you this note o'er the side of our boat,
For, "John Marshall High School, though stern was its rule,
Is still dear to our hearts," say they.

Skipperishly,

Marion.

Bootsie Club

DEAR MARTHA,

Greetings from the Bootsies! We have been intending to write for a long time to let you know all the propaganda. Of course, you know that Anne is our president and Jane Pullen is our dues collector. Vivian keeps the minutes when she is able to hear what is going on in a meeting, but, as it is our favorite weakness for all to talk at once, she can't quite make connections, as a rule. Nonnie Drewry, the reporter, can be seen at any hour of the day rushing around with pencil and pad looking for something to report (Blah!). Frank McCarthy is the club mascot, but we have not yet been able to make him wear a chain and collar. However, we have hopes. Miss Kratz is the most versatile sort of sponsor—always willing to help but never giving too much advice. We couldn't do without her.

Have you heard the latest? Netta Gates has at last graduated! We nearly passed out when the news came. Then, too, we lost Mary Hughes Inge. She skipped off to Florida, lucky girl! Imagine our sitting on radiators up here in the frigid North while she probably goes swimming and plays tennis each day. We gave her a tea just before she left.

Alice was on the make-up committee in the Dramatic Club this year. She got lots of experience and has been looking unusually natural recently. She evidently has learned how.

Some of this year's members are regular Bridge sharks. Dilly Tyler and Sale Pribble proved their mettle at the card party we gave at Mann and Brown's.

Evelyn Cocke opened the window and "influenza" thrice!

Have you heard from Blanche? She said she would write, if possible, and tell you all about our new pins. They are truly "Bootsiefied."

Yours in the bond,

BOOTSIE.

P. S. Forgot to tell you about our new members. We were lucky in annexing Grace Mickie and Frances Weil in February. They are both O. K.

Saint Club

Organized in 1927

DEAR "BILLY,"

True to my word I'm writing you the news about this year's Saints. It was quite difficult to get adjusted without the old members, and we still miss each of you. Will you ever forget that idiot, Frank Soyars? Saw him just the other day. Same old Frank dressed to a million—in borrowed knickers!

Well, we have a very jolly bunch this year—thirteen in all—eleven Saints, "Bud" Dunn for mascot and Miss Edith Sydnor for sponsor. Believe me, we made no error in selecting "Bud." She is all to the good and I have just one thing against her—too many people beating my time. Miss Sydnor is the same good sport she's always been, always interested in us and always ready to help.

You remember "Skinnie"? He is a decidedly valuable member, takes charge of annual representation, etc., but he is still laughing on high C and is a bit foggy when it comes to a girl.

You'll be surprised to learn that Gordon has gone in for dramatics. He's not so bad either. Of course "Billy" Maust still rolls a wicked pair of dice and gets away with murder on account of that innocent look. Speaking of dice—we have a new member, "Tug" Montfort, who is not averse to the game. He pays little mind to the ladies, but we hear he has a fair damsel back in his home town in New Jersey.

We have one other recent member. Do you remember Charles Shade, the little shortstop on the baseball team? We took him in the other day. He is a nice kid—hopelessly young and therefore assuming the air of a "man around town." You'll like him.

I suppose you have heard that "Cliff" Hudgins as well as "yours truly" are captains this year. Aiken is his sponsor; in fact they are so far gone that in an emergency we ask them to act as chaperons.

Charlie Frost is still our fashion plate, always correctly dressed and adding quite a bit of looks to the club.

Now I think I've told you about all except "Mo," "Cliff" Crowder, and "Bobby." Really these three are "God's gift to the ladies." "Bobby" can't go down the hall without a train of women behind him. But then you know women when it comes to a football player with an irresistible smile. "Cliff" Crowder is 'most as bad. Really he has the hottest of lines—claims to be loyal to one but has that "heart-to-heart" way of talking to each one. He is also the Imp mascot. "Mo" Crighton was true to the Crighton tradition on the track team. He assumes an indifferent air toward girls and, of course, that makes them all the hotter for him.

"Bill"—you remember "Bill" Tinsley was with us from September to February. He's working with the Highway Commission now. We miss him a lot.

Well, so long, ole top, but be sure to plan to come to the commencement dance and give the good hand to all the Saints.

Saintfully yours,

OLIN.

DEAR "BILLY,"

Happened to drop in and find Olin spilling the beans. He hasn't told on himself so I'll take the liberty to do so. He has made an ideal president—you should see him preside. He even keeps "Cliff" Hudgins and "Billy" Maust quiet, to say nothing of making "Mo" Crighton come to the meetings. Believe me, he still tricks the public into thinking he is dignified and serious, but those of us who play with him have quite a different opinion.

So-long,

"SKINNIE."

Saints

The Duckies

Dear Margaret,

We're writing to tell to you in rhyme
That we've been having the "DUCKIEST" time,
That we've accomplished a very great deal.
We've acquired Duckie pins, and I'm sure you feel
That our constitution is a great asset,
And makes our club less frivolous. We bet
That you'll like our song, our sponsor, too,
For Miss Gill's a dear. Now who have you?
Miss Engelberg, adviser and pal, and do admit
That Miley, our mascot, is quite a hit.
We had teas and parties and dances, and then
Our Alumnae began, and they'll remember when
Willa was president, talking all the while;
Mary Connor, vice-president, with her cute old smile;
Mary Ellen was reporter, writing so very much;
And Betsy Britton, treasurer, collecting bills and such;
When Helen giggled and Carolyn was so much in love;
When Lottie chattered and "Liz" laughed; and of Nellie, smiling, and Edith, dancing; and when
The three Margarets, Wilson, Bowen, and Vass were together;
Mary Russell, last—not least, the quietest, was there, too.
We must close now. Good-bye. Remember us, will you?

Love,

Duckie Mary Ellen.

P. S. We have four new members, and we think we're lucky. We initiated them, and they all proved quite "ducky": Anne Mahoney, Evelyn Knaub, "Liz" Simmons, and "Jo" August.

SPECIAL FEATURES
1929

WHEN dames wore hoops and powdered hair,
And very strict was etiquette,
When men were brave and ladies fair,
They danced the minuet.
Slippers, high-heeled with pointed toe,
Trod stately measures to and fro.
Quite demure, sedate, and bowing low
They danced the minuet.

Over his lady's outstretch'd hand
Each gallant bends right gracefully;
Gracious of mien, with manner grand,
She sweeps a courtesy.
Our whirling steps of modern days
Those lords and ladies would amaze,
Yet the minuet we still must praise
For grace and dignity.

NOW, girls wear short skirts and boy-cut hair,
And boys sheikishly dress, you can bet.
They dance, they swim, and travel by air,
And are free from all strict etiquette.
Life holds for them first—school set whirls,
Then social, and it seems that modern girls,
Are boyish in manner without frills and curls
That grandmother wore in the minuet.

The modern set knows how to dance
Each new step the day it appears.
And they might smile if they could chance
To see the dance of bygone years.
Life is as whirling as the dance they know,
And jauntily with laughs they go
To the rhythm of jazz forgetful although
They still reverence the dance of past years.

TRULY ~ A Buried Treasure

TRULY a buried treasure. That's what you say of a good annual when you dig it up years later. You don't read it every day—but every day its information becomes more precious. A treasure indeed when you realize that this record of your school life is only in existence in a very limited edition—that it probably cannot be duplicated. Remember though—have your annual well printed or you may want to let it stay buried—under the library table.
